VOL. VI.—NO. 1573. NEW-YORK, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1856. PRICE, TWO CENTS.

To the Editor of the New-York Daily Times.

I heard last evening of a case of yellow fever at No. 149 Myrtle-avenue, Brooklyn, between Ryerson and Classon-avenues, one of the most cleanly and respectable portions of the city. This case has been under the charge of Dr. Ayres for three weeks past, and strange to say, has not yet been reported to the Brooklyn Board of Health. I fear there are many such cases, and the Board cannot be too vigilant in the matter.

The President on his Trip to the North.

ARRIVAL IN BALTIMORE.

BALTIMORE, Tuesday, Sept. 30.

The President arrived in this city by the early train from Washington, this morning, and was received by the military and escorted to the Gilmore House, where he breakfasted with the Mayor, the members of the City Council, and deputations from the military. Subsequently, in obedience to the calls from the large concourse of people who had assembled around the hotel, he made a brief complimentary speech, returning his thanks for the kind reception he had received from the citizens of Baltimore.

At the conclusion of his speech the military formed in line, receiving him with a marching salute. They then escorted him to the cars. The reception was well managed and the military escort quite imposing. The marine and military officers of Washington came as far as Baltimore.

ARRIVAL IN PHILADELPHIA.

PHILADELPHIA, Tuesday, Sept. 30.

MAYOR VAUX, Collector BROWN, Marshal WITMOOR, and a number of the members of our City Council, received President PIERCE at Wilmington to-day. On the arrival of the train at Philadelphia, the President, with the Committee, took carriages, and drove rapidly to the Walnut-street wharf, and he there embarked by the boat for New-York at 5 o'clock. A crowd of some hundreds attended and witnessed his departure. The Military of this city were not out, but the Baltimore City Guards, under Capt. WARNER, accompanied the President here. The Committee accompanied Mr. PIERCE as far as Trenton.

INVITATION TO VISIT BOSTON.

BOSTON, Tuesday, Sept. 30.

The Board of Aldermen, last evening, adopted a resolution inviting the President to visit Boston, and proffering him the hospitalities of the city.

Rhode Island Republican and American State Conventions.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Tuesday, Sept. 30.

The Republican Convention to-day nominated the following ticket for Electors:

Edwin W. Lawton, of Newport; Isaac Saunders, of Scituate; Wm. P. Bullock, of Providence; Wm. D. Brayton, of Warwick.

The American Convention nominated the same ticket.

Great Fire at Atlanta, Georgia.

BALTIMORE, Tuesday, Sept. 30.

The Engine Depôt of the various Railroads at Atlanta, in Georgia, was destroyed by fire on Friday last. Loss, $100,000.

Two New Land Offices for Minnesota.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Sept. 30.

The President has fixed the two new Land Offices in Minnesota as follows: For the Northwest District at Ojibwa, and for the Northeast District at Breckenridge.

The Editor of the Charleston Mercury Killed in a Duel.

CHARLESTON, Tuesday, Sept. 30.

W. R. TAREN, Esq., editor of the Charleston Mercury, was killed yesterday afternoon, in a duel with EDWARD MACBATH, on the third fire.

Gamblers Arrested in Boston.

BOSTON, Tuesday, Sept. 30.

The house No. 29 Howard-street, was entered last evening by a posse of police, who arrested seventy-eight persons engaged in "prop-shaking," and other varieties of gambling. WILLIAM H. MEAD, the keeper of the house, was among those arrested.

Stabbing Affray in Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Tuesday, Sept. 30.

An affray occurred in a boarding-house in South-street, to-day, growing out of a quarrel about an umbrella, between two young men named DAVID KEAVIS and EDWARD SPENCER. KEAVIS was stabbed in the heart, dying five minutes afterwards.

Westchester County Fair.

Our friends in neighboring Westchester held their annual Agricultural Fair at White Plains during three days of last week, closing on Friday. The attendance throughout was large, especially on the last named day, when addresses were delivered by Mr. VAIL, of Mount Vernon, and Dr. UNDERHILL, of Croton Point. In some departments the specimens displayed were highly creditable, particularly in those of fruits and vegetables. Among the live stock, perhaps the horses took the lead, being quite up to the standard of such occasions. A pair of huge oxen, exhibited by Mr. MERRITT, of Harrison, attracted much attention from the fogy farmers of Middle and Northern Westchester, accustomed only to the comparatively puny cattle abounding in that section.

On the whole, this Fair has not proved very creditable to the agricultural community of Westchester. It is a common remark in the county that the fairs there of the past few years have deteriorated both as to the variety and quality of the specimens exhibited. Westover may be the cause of this, it is certain that the selection of a permanent locality for holding the annual Fair has not exerted a favorable influence. The Westchester Fairs have been held at White Plains for the last five years, and each succeeding year has shown a visible falling off in their general character and in the interest felt by exhibitors. Until the managers adopt the practice of rotation, and respond to the claims of the large towns in the northern parts of the county, there is very little room for believing that Annual Fairs will hereafter greatly thrive in Westchester.

The United States Agricultural Exhibition.

The preparations for this grand exhibition, which is to take place in the city of Philadelphia, in October, commencing on the 7th, and continuing five days, are now nearly completed. The grounds within the inclosure embrace an area of about 40 acres, reaching nearly to the wire bridge on the north, and upon the south taking in the ravine and the old cemetery near the Fairmount bridge. Upon the east the fence runs along the high water line, taking in the River-road, and using up the former camping ground. A public road, thirty feet in width, will be left on the west of the inclosure between the latter and the Pennsylvania Railroad. The sheds for the exhibition of cattle, horses, &c., linearly encircle the inclosure, while in the center the track for the trial of horses has been arranged. The ring is half a mile in circumference, and 40 feet wide, and near it there will be a stand erected that will accommodate eight thousand spectators. Some idea of the extent of the buildings to be erected may be formed from the fact that in addition to the tents and marquees over half a million feet of lumber will be required in putting up the temporary structures.

A SCIENTIFIC EXPEDITION.—We noticed about a week since, the arrival in the city of Prof. MOORE, of Iowa, on his way to South America, to make a scientific exploration of the Andean regions of Ecuador. We have now the pleasure to note the arrival of Prof. R. C. PEARSON, of Keokuk, Iowa, who joins Prof. MOORE, and will go out with him on the same mission. They expect to start on the 5th of next month, and to be occupied in their investigations about eighteen months. In addition to their zoological researches, we are informed that they intend to make measurements of the mountains and volcanoes of the Andes, about which little is now accurately known. We anticipate very interesting and instructive results from their labors.—N. O. Delta, Sept. 21.

GOING TO THE FAIR.

THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE on the Original Principle.

Going to the Fair, now-a-days, is a very different thing from going to the Fair in the old times. Then the Fair was the grand epitome of a country where the ingenuity put on exhibition was nearly equal to the curiosity that came to see. Time, however, has wrought its usual changes, and the self-acting, double and twisted labor-saving machines, with which the Yankee brain of nine-tenths of our population is now unknown. Mechanical ingenuity—even or called Horse, a three-legged elk, or a "striped pig,"—stood in the centre of attraction, under a pompous tent on the village green. These were flanked by peddlers' wagons, unfolding dazzling calicoes and laces to the rustic damsels, with pins, hosiery, crockery, tin ware and ribbons; and these by portable theatres, under which beer and pop exhaled their inspirations.

Where village statesmen talked with looks profound, And news much older than their ale went round.

That Fair, like sure, opened in the Fall, but Farmer John began to speculate about it as he was cutting his hay in July. He speculated again, when his fields were beating "the triumphal march of Corn through the land." And when the harvest was over, and he sat, at supper, by the bright Kitchen fire over which the tea-kettle, hanging from the iron crane, was singing a lullaby to the day's toil, Farmer John speculated once more, and concluded by declaring that all the men-folks, and all the women-folks should go to the Fair to-morrow.

So to-morrow, farmer John deliberately thrusts his sunburnt face up through a clean, white cotton shirt; deliberately pulls on the stout boots that, once in every seven days, squeak, squeak, squeak, up the broad aisle of the church, where he takes his Sabbath rest; deliberately dons on his decent, snuff-colored suit; deliberately orders the bay mares to be harnessed; deliberately leads the long wagon with all his household, and deliberately trots off to the fair.

But when we go to the fair, we manage things very differently. We jump from the dinner table into a Broadway stage, suffer ourselves to be cheated by the driver on a sixpenny trade, and jump out at the Crystal Palace to see the fair of the American Institute.

We enter from the Sixth-avenue, and run plump upon a huge white bear, whose fierce eyes are flashing over the threshold! We are thankful to discover that it is not a "live critter," but only the old ubiquitous sign-post of a Broadway hatter! Alackaday! to what base uses has this Arctic Majesty come at last! We mark how the moths have run riot through his dense fur jacket, since he came into this temperate zone. We quiz the sharpness of his claws, and the the brevity of his tail—and pass on.

Turning to the left, we come upon a world of Yankee notions; patent labor-saving machines of every degree, from the point that bores out the core of an apple to the anger that bores a tunnel through the mountain. Here a crowd is collected about a smart Yankee who is explaining a "patent self-acting gate." You drive your team over an iron rod that crosses the road a few feet in advance of the gate, and immediately the pickets divide at the center of the gate, and fold away, like a fan, up against the posts. You pass through, drive over another iron rod, crossing the road in the rear of the gate, and down fall the pickets and the bars again, and you are shut in. This labor-saving puzzle would have been the death of Farmer John had he met it on the road to the fair.

Of course here is competition. Right alongside of this gate stands another Yankee with another gate, which is also a "patent self-acting." A spring is concealed under an elevated plank in the roadway, over which your wheels pass, and the gate flies wide open, as a twinkling. You drive through, and your corresponding springs on the other side, and the gate flies to! Snap, behind you.

A little further on we find (No. 1,290) a "machine for felling trees," and (No. 1,222) a "machine for sawing off logs," which would take Farmer John right down if he could survive the sight of them. The machine is planted against a tree; you turn a crank and out starts a long, insidious saw, which, as you turn, gnaws its irresistible course through a heart of oak that has braved the fiercest storms. The largest tree is sawed off level with the ground, by this little machine, worked by a single hand.

We also find in this section of the Palace a "self-acting farm well," which draws up the water, at your approach, empties it into a bucket, and, for aught we know, will carry it home for you, and pour it into the tea-kettle; a patent bee-hive, a cider mill, a sausage-meat cutter, which, on democratic principles, does its duty without distinction of persons; brick machines, threshing machines, sifting machines, plows, churns, ox-yokes, grindstones, a corn-cob cutter, a wheat cutter, a hay cutter, an apple parer, a road scraper, a horse rake, a seed drill, a cultivator, and everthing else that will save farming labor, or squeeze a fortune out of the most sterile huckleberry pasture in all creation.

In the opposite section of the Palace, that is, on the left of the entrance, stands a beautiful chime of bells, from the foundry of JONAS & HITCHCOCK, of Troy, N. Y.; and near by swings a ponderous bell, in the key of D, which weighs 3,198 pounds, and comes from the same foundry. We looked for the bell-ringer to strike this thunder-toned alarum, and, as we associated upon its power, Fox's rhythmical melody of the fire-bells came to mind:

"Hark! the loud alarum bells—brazen bells!
What a tale of terror now their turbulency tells!
In the startled ear of night
How they scream out their affright!
How they clang and clash and roar,
What a horror they outpour
On the bosom of the palpitating air!"

In the centre aisle, astern of the polar bear, stands one of MENEELY'S bells, in the key of F sharp, on which the hours are struck by an "auld kirk hammer," moved by a handsome clock machinery standing in the rear of it. This bell weighs 2,839 pounds.

Passing through this section, we meet all styles and varieties of iron furniture—as bedsteads, lounges, chairs, tables, stands, umbrella racks, window sashes, posts, gates, and fences—but nothing new. Then we are requested to look at a patent double-acting door-hinge; at a patent short-winded door-spring; at a patent self-regulating wind-mill; and at sundry other patent, back-acting, self-adjusting, double-twisting, perpendicular-rotating gimcracks, whose ingenuity is pleasing, but whose utility is questionable. Then we come upon one of STEPHENSON'S new omnibuses, glittering in gold and damask. It is labeled for the "Bowery," and is altogether too fine a carriage for the three-cent passengers. Near by we discover a variety of brightly varnished vehicles—buggies, wagons, carts, sleighs and cutters—but nothing peculiar; and further on we are requested not to touch sundry fire engines, which stand redient in rosewood, lacquer, silver and gilt—apparently more ornamental than useful. To transfer the delicate brilliances of the rainbow to the shanks of a fire engine, is jumping from the sub*lime plump down into the ridiculous.*

Adown either side of the central aisle stretches a range of statues and statuettes; some of them relics of the great exhibition, but most of them of no consequence whatever. Under the vast dome plays the fountain. Behind the fountain Gen. Washington is still trotting his mammoth horse, and before the fountain the beautiful Amazon still poises a spear at her crouching foe—all as in the days of the great exhibition. About the fountain is displayed a choice variety of fruits, particularly grapes, pears and apples. The largest display of this kind is made by a Boston firm, on whose tables we recognize several plates of fruit from the recent horticultural exhibition in the Music Hall at Boston.

In the northeast section of the Palace we come upon a dismal moor of stoves—cook-stoves, parlor stoves, heaters, furnaces, ranges, Franklins and air-tights of every style, capacity and pretension. This display attracts some attention from housekeepers, whom we never yet knew one who was satisfied with the stove or range that is in her own kitchen. Cooking stoves and ranges always promise much than they perform, and through twenty-five years of daily improving these machines, we predict that the day is not far distant when they will all be cast aside and every housekeeper will cook his meats and heat his irons by Gas!

We were charmed by a gas cooking stove which we found in operation in the Fair. We appreciated its cleanliness and its economy. No more coal nor kindlings to buy—no more ashes to cart away—no more [illegible] The kitchen is transformed into a parlor, and the cooking is effectually [illegible]

[illegible] the whole system of the meal to the fire of the gas burner. This stove [illegible] we were much pleased.

In the opposite quarter of the Palace we find an extensive display of fine hardware, carpenter's tools, cutlery, brass, iron, steel, copper, and ornamental iron castings, which are familiar to Broadway or Bowery passengers, and seem to be displayed more for the purpose of advertising their owners, than for any novelty developed quality which they possess.

We were much pleased with some "Patent Portable Houses"—running little dwellings, some twenty feet square at the base, and rising to three stories, tall and prim as a quaker; or spreading out in undulations, frank and cheerful as the face of a laughing Dutchman. What nice things to carry off into the country for a Summer; where you may select your site in the pine woods or on the meadow, set up the little white house, join it and screw it tight, hang the green blinds and live at your ease in your own inn.

The machinery department of the Palace all a chaos; so up stairs we go, and land in the old Picture Gallery. It is all trash. The walls are covered with gilt frames, which environ daguerreotypes, ambrotypes, talbotypes, nemacotypes, photographs, and glittering daubs of many colors, each protesting the vanity of their proprietors, the rival machine artists of Broadway and the Bowery. The gallery is now but a mass of glittering trash, contributing little to the Fair, but with each other in criminating the dead artists. We get out of it as soon as we can, but not until we discover, in a corner, the omnipresent profile cutter of every Fair. He is the man with the sharp eye and the cheery address, who cleps you out in black, so dexterously, that you laugh at the likeness, and willingly throw down your shilling in exchange.

Passing on, we are attracted by a "Secretary, Bedstead," nothing new, if we read GOLDSMITH'S "Deserted Village" aright; where, in describing the old tavern, he tells us of "The clock contented to double duty to pay,

A kettle to-day, a chest of drawers to-day."

Next we meet numerous specimens of every variety of smoth composition and fusee pastilles, to say nothing of contraband cutlery, carvers, pistols and cleavers. Then we find India-rubber water, toys and garments, which we have seen before; models of ships, quilts, clothes-pins, silver ware, a new "paging and numbering machine," which not only pages books at the rate of 1,600 impressions in an hour, but numbers checks and bank notes to perfection; then we reach a candy stand, where we will pause.

The Fair opened on the 22d of September, and is yet very incomplete. The vast spaces of the Palace are but half filled, and most of the objects now on exhibition do not possess any great claim as new or ingenious utilities. There is, however, reason to hope that the Fair will increase in interest, and our readers cannot spend an hour to better advantage than in wandering through its attraction, such as they are.

The Musical Automaton.

A musical automaton was privately exhibited to the members of the Press, and others, at the Apollo Rooms, yesterday. It is a very curious affair, full of springs and levers and queer contrivances, making the clarionet speak, and the cornet blow. It is the invention of M. VAN OORSTEEN, a native of Holland, who has come hither to show what six or seven years of careful labor can accomplish. The figure is that of a troubadour, with cap and feather, and a huge clarionet in his grasp, which he fingers as naturally as possible. They screw him up in the back and set him going, and, when once set a-going, he goes for five minutes or so, without stopping. The manipulation of the keys by the fingers of the image is a remarkable instance of mechanical ingenuity. One set of levers operates the fingers of the right hand, and another the left, and still another turns the eyes, or rolls them up sentimentally, if one of the twenty tunes chances to be of the sentimental order. The automaton does his work handsomely, and makes a good show.

Complaints Against our Brighton Artillery.

The Committee on Public Health, Alderman GUNTHER, President, met yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of considering a communication from residents in Hammersley-street, petitioning against the use of the dock at the foot of that street as a dumping ground for night soil. The complainants were notified of the meeting, and requested to attend, but they did not. They are indignant that their olfactories should be outraged every night by the long procession of night carts through their street. Alderman BRIGGS recommended more exercise. He is of the opinion that if the residents of that locality would take as much exercise as he does during the day, their eyes would not be opened by the sensitiveness of their noses at night.

The Gale.

Since Monday night it has been blowing a strong gale from the south-east to east, with heavy rain, but as yet we hear of no disasters to the shipping in port. There are at present a large fleet of outward-bound vessels anchored in the North River, but they all seem to have weathered the gale. Several cellars along the East and North Rivers were flooded, owing to the high tide we had yesterday morning.

☞ The "Allen Musketeers," composed of a body of men usually occupied in manufacturing plows and other implements of peaceful husbandry, turned out nearly a hundred strong yesterday. From their fine military order, under Capt. PETRIE, as they kept step to SHELTON'S music, and from their warlike appearance, we should judge they had reversed the Scripture prophecy, and beaten their plowshares into swords and their scythes into muskets. The company proceeded to Fort Lee, and, notwithstanding the rain, had a "good time." Their target showed what an enemy may expect even from agricultural men should our national rights be violated. The salute and military evolutions of the company in front of the TIMES office were very finely executed.

☞ The trim little theatre now building for Miss LAURA KEENE, between Houston and Bleecker streets, and owned by Mr. TRENKLE, will be completed about the 1st of November. The contract required it to be done by the middle of October, but that has been found impossible. The walls of the building, the rear of which is on Crosby-street and the entrance through an archway from Broadway, are nearly up, and the framework of the interior already in its place. The floor of the parquette will be some five feet below the curbstone.

☞ Further subscriptions for the sufferers by Cholera in the Island of Madeira have been received, supposed to make the total collected therefor $1,585. Contributions will continue to be received by ROSSER BENSON, Jr., No. 5 New-street; GEORGE M. LEWIS, No. 61 Front-street; HATWARD & WEST, No. 90 Wall-street; WILLIAM DIXEY, No. 18 Cedar-street; JAMES W. HATWARD, No. 59 Wall-street.

☞ It strikes us that the Union Ferry Co. ought to have the cabin of their boats cleaned before 8 o'clock in the morning. At that time the boats are most crowded, and the damp wet floors have been the cause of more than one death. This is a perfect nuisance, particularly to ladies, and ought to be abolished. Swab up earlier.

☞ It is JOHN C. DEVELIN who is a candidate for the nomination of Corporation Counsel, with MOSES, BUSTED and SICKLES, and not DELEVAN, as was stated in some of the papers of yesterday.

☞ Mr. GOFF, of Albany, has produced a bust of FERGUSON that looks a good deal like the original.

Hon. MYRON O. STEAST died at his residence (Landon-terrace) yesterday.

☞ It rained hard, yesterday, much of the day.

The Adams Bigamy Case Constituted at Law—Discharge of the Defendant.

The charge of bigamy made, some time since, against Captain ALONZO W. ADAMS, and which has been pending before Justice DAVIDSON, at the Jefferson Market Police Court, was, yesterday, ended by the honorable discharge of the accused party.

On the case being called up the counsel for the prosecution moved that it be adjourned for three months longer. This was objected to by the defence, who stated that the previous adjournment was obtained on account of the absence of a witness whom the prosecution attempted to bribe; and in support of this assertion Mrs. ANNA SOMERS, of Lindlow-street, was called to the stand and testified as follows:

Anna Somers, of No. — Lindlow-street, being duly sworn, deposed and said: I am married. My husband's name is Henry Somers; he is a painter; he is in the country; Mrs. Fowler owns a house in my neighborhood where I was out to work, and my husband called with me; I was present when Mrs. Fowler said to the witness, in my presence, that if he would give her $100 (I was sure she said $100 or $150) Mrs. Fowler would pay his expenses to Europe and support him while he was there; (this was the substance of what she said) and the witness to prevent her from making any more such offers, said to witness that if he was convicted of bigamy, at this time the support of Mrs. Fowler would be taken from the person now present, pointing to the defendant; Mrs. Fowler, whose name was mentioned by the witness, was present when this conversation took place; Mr. Adams was married to one Mary in California. Deponent also testified to having first told Officer Robb of this state of bribery. This statement was corroborated by the testimony of Officer Robb.

The motion for adjournment was then denied. Defence then moved for a dismissal of the case. The motion was granted, and the matter, we suppose, finally disposed of.

Board of Governors.

The Board of Governors met at the Rotunda yesterday, the President, THOMAS DONAHUE, Esq., in the Chair. This being the monthly reconsidering day, the reading of those voluminous documents occupied some time. When the medical reputation for Bellevue Hospital came up,

Governor [illegible] expressed some surprise at the amount for so expensive a hospital of opinion for the month. The Visiting President thought the 200 feeders too many, observing that there were already a sufficient quantity at that establishment.

The Chairman said he intended to lessen their number.

Among the communications, was another detailing the escape of three prisoners from the Penitentiary.

The surgeon of Bellevue Hospital writes to the Board that: "We have now two cases of yellow fever under care and was present. Dr. Rockwell was sent for and saw the first case. He gave a permit for examination. The man on board the steamboat plying in the place called King Philip refused to take the case on board. Great Governor left an order for the "dead-cart" to take it last night. The weather is not fit to send the case in an open boat. The doctors say the exposure will be fatal." I wrote to Dr. Rockwell last night respecting this affair."

Dr. Rockwell recommended the removal by the boat. The President remarked that one of these cases was the one reported in the papers of the morning as coming from New-Haven. He seemed to think there was unnecessary excitement, and some doubt as to the real nature of such cases.

After the transaction of other unimportant business, the Board adjourned.

Man Shot—Strange Affair.

A man named JOHN CURRIER was shot, between 7 and 8 o'clock last evening, in Cedar-street, by some unknown man, dressed in the garb of a sailor. It appears that the man in sailor's attire went into the boarding-house of JOHN BRADY, No. 157 Cedar-street, and inquired the price of a night's lodging. He was told "three shillings." "That is too much," he replied; "I want to go to a cheaper place." Mr. BRADY directed him to another house near by, into which he went, but there being no room for him he left, accompanied by Mr. CURRIER, who kindly volunteered to go with him to a place where he would be accommodated. He proceeded with his guide for some distance, when suddenly turning upon Mr. CURRIER, he discharged a pistol at him, the bullet taking effect in the abdomen. Mr. CURRIER fell to the pavement, and the villain fled, and managed to make his escape.

Mr. CURRIER was removed to the City Hospital. There are only faint hopes of his recovery.

Explosion—Two Men Injured.

A keg of combustible matter called "fuse," exploded about 8 o'clock yesterday morning, in the blacksmith shop of PARMOR McDERMOTT, in Fifty-ninth-street, near Ninth-avenue, damaging the building to some extent, and severely injuring the proprietor of the shop, and one of his workmen, named HENRY HILLS, both of whom were removed to Bellevue Hospital. McDERMOTT is not expected to recover.

☞ A live baby, about three weeks old, was found, early Monday morning, on the stoop of Ex-Mayor KINGSLAND'S residence, Fifth-avenue. The owner of it evidently intended it as a gift to that gentleman. He declined the honor, however, and the rejected present was given in charge of the Ten Governors.

☞ The clipper brig E. S. Peasy, Captain DAVIS, arrived on Saturday night from Malaga, after a short passage, with the first cargo of new fruit. This vessel for two successive years brought the first cargo of new Malaga fruit to this market.

LONG ISLAND.

The Turf for 1856.

CENTREVILLE COURSE, L. I.—Great trotting match for $2,000, between Flora Temple, in harness, and Lancet, under the saddle; mile heats; best 2 in 3. TUESDAY, Sept. 30.—There was a large crowd in attendance, and they were amply repaid by witnessing a well-contested race, which in point of interest has rarely been equaled. Lancet was the favorite, $100 to $60. The amount of money which changed hands upon the result of this trot would seem almost fabulous. The course was very heavy and muddy, on account of the rain. The performance of a mile in two minutes and twenty-five and a half seconds, by Lancet, in the last heat, is an achievement unprecedented on the trotting turf. It proved the best on record. Lancet was not called upon to show his rapid style upon this occasion; for, although his competitor started upon each heat like an arrow from an archer's bow, it was of no avail, for, upon the back stretch in all three heats, he was in the lead, and maintained his position in gallant style, without an apparent effort; in fact, he won the race easily in three heats. Flora's owner offered to trot her against any horse in the world, 1, 2 or 3 mile heats to harness or wagons for $2,000. We should much like to see Lancet and Flora brought together, as they are at the present time the two champions. The following is a Summary of the race:

Match, $2,000. Mile heats, best 2 in 3.

Henry A. Wise Stickling for Slavery and Disunion.

HENRY A. WISE, Governor of Virginia, being called on lately in a public meeting at Richmond, gave a speech, of which we find the following report in the Herald:

MR. PRESIDENT: If this was an ordinary political canvass—if we were not standing upon the very brink of the most terrible of revolutions—if I was not standing in the position that I am, charged with your trust, bound by your obligations, clothed with your power—not only responsible to my God, to my country and to myself, but doubly bound by a judicial oath—I would, delight, sir, to address this assembly to-night. The ordinary topics I could calmly touch; the ordinary arguments, pro and con, as parties have contended heretofore, I could weigh calmly and not distrust myself; but I say to you, that as the Chief Magistrate of this State, I do not feel that I can anticipate coming events, which cast their shadows before them. None of the old issues disturb me in times like these—about old and State differences in some party positions. There is a weight at this moment resting upon the minds of serious men, which is oppressive. You have heard of that past time which have tried men's souls. Times are coming, and are near upon us which will again try who are men, who are triflers, and who are traitors. [Enthusiastic cheers.] You, whose minds are occupied in the way of ordinary business, may talk and feel as usual about a Presidential election; you are not called on, as I am, to think and feel about nothing else but the existence of the State, the safety of her people; and you may not see the dangers around as I do, because it is not so much your province as mine to look ahead and ask, "What is coming, and what shall be done for the Commonwealth?" though that, as patriots, is your concern as well as mine. But as for me, every moment, every hour almost—every hour, because the small hours are taken from sleep to think. I say every moment is occupied in reflecting what must the Governor of Virginia do in the coming contingency. I feel that it is no time to trifle with nations to hesitate, and yet no time to rashly anticipate any thing, or to say lightly what shall be done. Do not misunderstand me, Sir. Dreadful as these responsibilities are, let no man do me the injustice to suppose that I am, at a moment like this, skulking from this responsibility. [Enthusiastic cheers.] Do not suppose that I regret you have placed me where I may be called upon in this border State first to act. You may have found—and would to God you had found—a stronger man to lean upon; but such as I am, physically, mentally and morally, I thank God that I am where I am, and that I am with you, prepared for the worst. [Cheers.] I need your assistance, and every man needs that of his neighbor; but if the worst comes to the worst, and the thunder, and the lightning, and the storm must rage, I say I shall meet it without fear. [Enthusiastic cheers.]

The terms are presented to us, and we have to choose those which are most favorable to our interests. Each party now in the field holds out certain terms, and the question with us is, which are we to accept? I say, if there is a conservative party left in the country—the only National, the only Union-loving party, whose flag waves and floats in every State of the confederacy—that party is the great Democratic Party. (Loud cheers.) On the one hand you have peace, safety, prosperity, progress, on, on, as we have been going for more than seventy years. But on the other hand, on this ground swell of fanaticism, not in the North alone, but in the South as well as in the North—for there is evidence that we have fanatics among us—if the evils of all the isms shall combine, and that which yesterday was the last is no longer the worst; but we have another present which is last and worst—it is all the isms, I say, combined in the superlative ism, which I denounce as demonism, shall prevail against Democracy, God knows the question fearfully arises, what will we do? To decide this will not depend upon one or two. This puts the argument of the election in its proper light: and whilst I feel the gloom of the responsible position in which I am placed, I may console myself, Sir, and I do, that I am but a humble State executive officer—that I will be but ministerial. I shall have to obey orders—legislative orders, conventional orders. I have more masters than one. Your organized legislative and judicial power may control me; but above all, that which is above legislative, judicial, and executive power—the constitutional power of the people—may control me. I am glad that I have these great instruments to defend me against the weight and pressure of the responsibility which is now so heavy, and may be so much greater in the future. About a year ago, or a little more, I warned you that that black, insidious, midnight order, which stalked this State with its dark lantern, and which deceived many honest-minded men, but none of its leaders—I warned you of the fact that Know-Nothingism would terminate in demonism to distract the South and to fuse in the North. I am not going to debate the question here to-night, who is right or who is wrong. God forbid that I should ever debate the question who is right or who is wrong, North or South, or which is the assailant of the other? Sir, if Mr. A. or B. should knock me down or spit in my face, I would as soon debate with him the question who began the quarrel? If you ask me whether the North is assailing the South or vice versa, I tell you there is one piece of inherent evidence that beats the record of evidence out of sight. I would not give one piece of inherent testimony, for all the intrinsic evidence in the world. Let me illustrate what I mean.

A party of twelve men are sworn to try the fact whether A. assaulted B., or B. assaulted A. There are no witnesses present, if you please, but the parties themselves. They are alone with each other on the highway; and from their own testimony you learn that the subject matter of the controversy is a piece of property—a bank note, or anything else, which is owned and possessed by the one, and which the other desired to take away. Now, independent of all positive proof, which of the two, in the nature of the case, was to be the assailant—he who had the thing, or he who had it not? The possessor had only to remain at peace in order to continue in quiet possession. The assailant had to be him who had not the possession, and who desired to take it away from him who lawfully held it. Well, now, so it is with the North and the South. The South has property in slaves—a property known to the laws, a possession which is fortified by a quadruple tier of laws—federal constitution and federal statutes, State constitutions and State statutes—and it has rights belonging to that property equally recognised and fortified; and that property and those rights the North desires to abolish, to take away and to destroy. The South desires to be let alone—to be left in quiet, lawful possession; and the North is bent upon disturbing and destroying the quiet possession and enjoyment of that property. Which, in the nature of the case, is bound to be the assailant? He who has no other mode of success but aggression? What among wise and just men ought to be the verdict? Why, that the man with the bank note ought to be allowed safely to walk the highway with it in his pocket, and his lawful property ought not to tempt any one to assail him for its possession. [Cheers.] And the South ought to be let alone, and no power ought, without law and against law, to attempt to abolish and destroy its property in slaves. And the fact proves itself that the party which would abolish and destroy the property is necessarily the party which must assail the party which possesses it. Attempt not to abolish the legal rights and possessions, and there will be no war. But there is war, and the subject of controversy is property which is lawful in the one, and which the other would destroy; and the war itself, for such a cause, shows who is the assailant.

So stands the case as to who is in the wrong. You need not tell me, then, who voted for the Missouri Compromise or who voted against it. I know this about it, that the Missouri restriction was the first proposition made that slave property should not be enjoyed; that the compromise was, that it should not apply to the State of Missouri in particular, but that the restriction should apply to all territory north of the line of 36° 30', without an equivalent south of that line; that the restriction which assailed the rights of property without compensation was no compromise; that there was no constitutional power to press it, and that its repeal restores the Constitution as the true compact between the parties. [Cheers.] I know, moreover, Mr. President, that demonism is complaining, hypocritically, that the peaceful rights of property, and the peaceful settlements of the people upon the public lands of Kansas are assailed.—Territory not yet a sovereignty, but a mere creature of sovereignty, with no other guarantee of government than an organic act of Congress. While they complain that Border Ruffians are assailing persons and property in Kansas, Black Republican Ruffians are assailing persons and property every day and every hour, within the sacred limits of the sovereign State of Virginia, all along a line of nine hundred miles of her boundary and frontier. Virginia was sovereign before the Union began—she is one of the old thirteen original States, who, since Independence, have been the creators of sovereignties—who created sovereignties to be equal, not to be superior to themselves. She asks only for equality out of her limits, only for peace within her limits. [Enthusiastic cheers.] She has every guarantee of original right, of sovereignty, of constitutions and of laws; and yet a black power without her limits assumes to say, and does say, and patriots in saying, that slave property shall not be peacably and safely engaged within the limits which she reserved from her original vast proportions—that the Constitution and laws shall not reign anywhere in respect to these rights on the subject of Slavery.

You might as well own a thousand dollars floating on a ship on the Ohio River, as to own a slave worth a thousand dollars on the banks of that stream in the limits of Virginia. Is this to be borne much longer? If Kansas may complain of her wrongs, may Virginia not still more complain? If sympathy is rous[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [

[illegible] Mr. BUCHANAN's prospects have begun to look gloomy, the Pro-Slavery papers treat him very disparagingly. The Washington Union says he "believed under a misapprehension" as to "who conquered California, and never [illegible]"

The Illinois American states, on footing up of the recent election in Adams, that Captain Jesse BLACK, of Quincy, who quite gave up his carriage to others who could not walk, had traveled on foot five miles to deposit a Republican vote.

W. A. KAYNER, a prominent man in Missouri, and said to be a confidential friend of Col. BENTON, has published a letter in the St. Louis Republican urging the nomination of a Freemont electoral ticket in that State.

Mr. ROBERTS, of Springfield, Ill., an able lawyer and a brilliant speaker, and hitherto a staunch Democrat, has delivered his invitation to sustain Col. FREMONT for the Presidency.

The Pittsburg Journal says: ROBERT J. WALKER "has admitted openly and freely his opinion, that JOHN C. FREMONT would be elected President of the United States at the next Presidential election."

The Pennsylvanian says that a gentleman now in Philadelphia proposes to stake $15,000 on the election of BUCHANAN. Does any Fremonter want to win this sum?

EDGAR B. OLNEY, M. C., from Ohio, has accepted a challenge from Gov. CLEVELAND, of Connecticut, to canvass the latter State with him until the day of election.

The Daily Freemann says that of the 2,500 members of the Fremont Club in Milwaukee, 700 are German Democrats and 400 Americans who voted for Pierce in 1852.

The Fremont and Dayton electoral ticket in Kentucky is composed principally, if not entirely, of men who have hitherto been Democrats.

The Fillmore correspondent of the Associate Press of New-York, at Albany, speaking of the meeting in that city on Thursday, says: "Eight hundred members of the Young Men's American Clubs of New-York and Brooklyn were present." The Journal says that by actual count when the delegation were marching from the boat to their quarters, both Clubs combined numbered 929; and in the procession only 108 followed the New-York and 83 the Brooklyn banner. The Journal further has the following:

"The Fillmore organ of last evening, speaking of the procession yesterday, says 'an immense procession of not less than 10,000 is moving.' At least twenty careful counts were made of the procession, and not one could number 1,100!"

The Republican Cause in Pennsylvania.

EQUINUNK, PA., Tuesday, Sept. 23, 1856.

The prospects are very encouraging in Pennsylvania. The people are fairly aroused in the cause of freedom. Republican meetings are being held in every school, and in fact in every sub-district. This village, which has always been Democratic, is now quite the reverse, there being only one Buchanan and two Fillmore men here. This has always been a Democratic town—will now roll up a good majority for FREMONT—three-fourths of the votes will be given for FREMONT and DAYTON. Wayne County, which has generally given a Democratic majority from 300 to 1,500, is, I think, sure for FREMONT from 500 to 800, and as goes the county so goes the State, and as goes the State so goes the Union. It is impossible to get up a Buchanan meeting in this section of the country for there is no one to attend such meetings.

I was a Free-Soil Democrat in 1848, and a Pierce Democrat in 1852, and am now a Fremont Democrat, and I think the scales have now turned and New-York is now the battle ground instead of Pennsylvania. All eyes are now turned towards the Empire State, and I hope the 4th of November will proclaim that there are not enough Doughfaces left to defeat FREMONT. Yours, truly, T.

The Bar for Freedom.

To the Editor of the New-York Daily Times:

I have taken considerable pains to find out how many of your City lawyers were for FREMONT, and have, according to my calculation, ascertained that some three-fourths are for JOHN C. FREMONT. That is my rough sketch. Probably one-half of the one-fourth will, before election, vote for him.

Yours respectfully,

ONE OF YOUR LAWYER SUBSCRIBERS.

NEW-YORK, Friday, Sept. 26, 1856.

Another Southern Fillmore Man Going for Buchanan—Slavery Paramount.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, Virginia, Wednesday, August 6, 1856.

DEAR SIR: Your note addressed to me at Charlotte, N. C., under date of the 19th ultimo, and forwarded to me here, has just been received. The delay in its reception has, perhaps, rendered an answer unnecessary. But a respectful regard for your[illegible], and the gentleman who joined in the request, urge me to reply to your inquiries in a very brief note. You were correctly informed as to my position in reference to the next Presidential election. I expect to vote for JAMES BUCHANAN and JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE. Appreciating highly, as I do, the ability and patriotism of Mr. FILLMORE, I am, nevertheless, under existing circumstances, compelled by a sense of duty and the clear convictions of my own deliberate judgment, to vote for the nominees of the Democratic Party. I am opposed to the so-called "American" or "Know-Nothing" Party. In my opinion its organization is anti-republican, and contrary to the true theory of our Government and the fundamental principles of the Constitution. I have not affiliated with, or voted the ticket of this party. It is not the Whig party open or disguised, but boasts of having risen upon the ruins and corruptions of both the old parties. Mr. FILLMORE is the candidate of the "American Party alone," and has accepted its platform—a platform which I do not approve, and which is the work of the Northern wing of the party, or, rather, the small remnant of it which had not joined the Abolition Party; while Mr. FILLMORE himself is the candidate nominated by the Southern wing, and repudiated by the North.

The great question of domestic Slavery in all its bearings is paramount to all others in this Presidential election. It ought not and cannot be ignored or made subordinate to others of less signification by any true Southern man. Upon this question the Democratic Party occupies, in an eminent degree, the highest conservative, constitutional, and national ground. It is truly NATIONAL. It is the only party now in existence which can meet together, discuss, and adopt principles and resolves on this subject of the same or even of a similar character in every and in all sections of the country. There is no organized Whig Party, and no Whig candidate in the field. Mr. FILLMORE is careful to repeat that he is not the "Whig" but is the "American" candidate, and speaks of the Whigs as his "former associates." He is a "member of the Order." In choosing between him, therefore, and other candidates, there is no compromise of Whig principles. A true Whig may act as his conscience dictates, unbiased by other obligations.

But there is another consideration of the greatest moment in reference to the pending Presidential election. The contest is practically between the Democratic and the Abolition Parties. There is not the slightest probability that Mr. FILLMORE can be elected President by the electoral college. If he should succeed in getting one or two States, which is even doubtful in any quarter of the Union, the only effect of it might possibly be not to elect him to any contingency, but to give the election to the present House of Representatives from which every true patriot and honest man would exclaim, "May God deliver us!" Under the critical circumstances which surround us, I sincerely believe that the Union and the Constitution, and the rightful equality of the States under the federal compact, are in imminent peril. And leaving others to judge for themselves, for myself I feel it to be my duty to vote, in company with thousands of firm and true "Old-Line Whigs" throughout the nation, for the candidates of that party which shall have the ability in political power, as well as the patriotic disposition, to preserve and perpetuate the Union, the Constitution, and the equality of the States. Under existing circumstances, the party of which Mr. FILLMORE is the candidate cannot, in any possible contingency, be in a position to exercise such an influence; and the nominees of the Democratic Party are the only candidates now before the people who may have it in their power to prolong, if not to perpetuate, the blessings which are guaranteed to us by the free institutions under which we have heretofore so happily and so prosperously lived.

My purpose is, therefore, to give my support to those distinguished statesmen—BUCHANAN and BRECKINRIDGE, who are eminently qualified for the highest positions in the Government, and who are the candidates most likely to defeat Fremont, the sectional and Abolition candidate, and to be able, under Divine Providence, to allay the sectional strife and the bitter and bloody agitations which now unhappily divide our country, and threaten the very existence of the Constitution and the Union. [illegible] for the South, the entire South, [illegible] of the Union which leaves!

Long, dear Sir, truly and respectfully, &c., your obedient servant, D. M. BARRINGER.

To W. A. HOUCK, Esq., Salisbury, N. C.

[illegible]

Gov. CLARK responded in the following terms:

GENTLEMEN: [illegible] have honored me with the sentiments of more than ordinary interest in my mind. It brings at once to my memory the struggles, the successes and the defeats which have attended us in our own State, and within my own experience, the great cause in which you are engaged.

You have alluded to the successes of our efforts in enacting a Prohibitory Liquor Law in the State I represent, and also to our defeat before the Court of Appeals; allow me to assure you that we have yet left, [illegible] of encouragement, not withstanding the partial reliefs we have been called to meet.

At this time another and most important and exciting issue engages the attention of our people; but in due time the friends of Temperance in our State will recover their lost ground, and achieve, by renewed efforts, a more enduring triumph. The heart of our people is still right; and recent experience and discussion have only seemed to strengthen their faith in a Prohibitory Liquor Law. I have myself, after not a very brief service in the cause, a higher appreciation than ever of its importance, and an unshaken confidence in its continued progress.

I need not say anything to strengthen your own good resolves to labor in the great work you have undertaken. We have heard in the United States with pleasure an encouragement of the organizations and prosperity of the various societies for the promotion of temperance in the British Provinces; and we desire to be allowed to mingle our fraternal feelings and labors with yours in a cause which is one throughout the world.

Be pleased to accept as representatives of societies, and as individuals, my best wishes, and my sincere thanks for the kindness you have shown me.

Carelessness in the Streets.

To the Editor of the New-York Daily Times:

DEAR SIR:—Pray give a word of caution to workmen, and their employers also, in regard to their growing, as it seems to me—careless. I am not accustomed to regard trifles; and as much is said and written (and very justly) of ladies' sections for their benefit and ease, that I have made a point, most willingly, of looking after myself, dodging shovels, &c. Knowing well that workmen must get on with the job, and their time is their living, I would not needlessly require it, but amid such throngs life as in Broadway, extra carefulness must be necessary.

I passed this morning where they were excavating a cellar, etc., in Broadway, near the Grinnell House—indeed it may be a part of that house; four men, directly upon the sidewalk, were throwing sand into carts. I waited for the first two, and then stepped past, thinking, of course, the next man, who was setting his shovel, would not throw without looking at all; but it came dash against my head, both shovel and sand,—making a slight cut upon my forehead, discoloring and slightly swelling the cheek, and depositing moist sand in my hair, neck, sleeves and basket. I am fond of mother earth, but not in this fashion.

The blow caused me to reel and fall against the wheel of the cart—there is but a foot-path to pass. I heard several exclamations of the carelessness of the man from those near.

I have reason to be thankful that it was no worse. My bonnet was fattened and my head is nothing from very culpable carelessness. I saw still further up town, two gentlemen dodge some heavy article—stone or plaster, thrown from an upper window as they passed. So much of building and repairing is in progress that all, or many, seem reckless in the hurry, and the building must go on, if some being is struck senseless or even killed. Pray give a caution.

Very respectfully, A LADY.

A Monument to Poe.

To the Editor of the New-York Daily Times:

I read with interest the note of your correspondent H., in this morning's TIMES, proposing a fund for the erection of a monument to the gifted EDGAR ALLAN POE, and inviting some one to open the ball for so desirable and proper a project. I have this day received a letter from an accomplished authoress, in which she says:

"I saw in a magazine, the other day, a very touching appeal to the public in behalf of the memory of poor EDGAR ALLAN POE, mentioning the circumstance that the spot where he lies is unmarked by slab or headstone, and soliciting the attention of the feeling to the subject. Nothing ever goes so much to my heart as the tale of the fortunes, neglected genius of those who, by their genius, have benefited the world. I wish to do something for the cause; cannot you help me? You must not remember the man's sins, (for he was human,) so much as his colossal intellect. If each one of your thriving New-York publishers should contribute but a dollar or two, the thing might be accomplished."

Please, therefore, as the nucleus of a fund for a monument to E. A. POE, put down—Miss J. H., $5, and also add from J. C. D., $10. I respectfully recommend the appointment of a treasurer; perhaps you will suggest one, and the increase of this little beginning to one or two thousand dollars. J. C. D.

Burlington College, N. J.

At the annual meeting of the Trustees on Saturday last, Rev. HOBART CHEEWOOD, B. D., was appointed Rector of the College.

At the same time the honorary degree of Master of Arts was conferred on Rev. JOHN WRAGG BRACKENRIDGE, Rector of the House of Prayer, Newark; Rev. AUGUSTUS FAGGO, Rector of Christ Church, Bordentown; and Rev. DAVID CAWELL JULLIENT, Principal of St. Mary's Hall, Burlington. Also the degree of Bachelor of Divinity, in course, on Rev. WILLIAM CROSWELL DOANE, Chaplain to the Bishop, and adjunct Professor of English Literature in Burlington College; Rev. HOBART CHEEWOOD, Rector of Burlington College, and Rev. Temperance Matters—Suffolk County Meeting.

To the Editor of the New-York Daily Times:

The Suffolk County Temperance Society held its meeting for September on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, at Islip. As their action respecting the nominee for Governor will affect the fortunes of the Republican Party in this State, it may be interesting to your readers to be informed of their proceedings. Permit me to give them a bird's-eye view of their doings touching that matter.

On the first afternoon of their meeting, the Business Committee presented a resolution, the import of which was, that as their Society could not regard the Temperance cause as a secondary matter in State politics, they ought not to sustain either of the present candidates for the Gubernatorial chair.

This resolution was very warmly discussed on Wednesday morning and afternoon. Every speaker evinced dissatisfaction with the manner in which the nominating Conventions had disregarded the claims of the Temperance community. The position taken by them was as follows:—That although they deprecated the idea of their Society being identified with any one of the political parties now existing, still they had a right to expect that at least one of those parties would so far respect their views as to nominate a man who would pledge himself not to veto a Constitutional Prohibitory Law, if such should be passed at the approaching meeting of the Legislature; that they had a special reason to expect this of the Republican Party, seeing the Democratic nominee was known to be hostile to the prohibition; that the Know-Nothings would probably nominate a gentleman equally opposed to our views; that the Temperance men gave their votes last Fall for the candidates of the Republican Party, and that two-thirds of it were Temperance men. And now, that that party had "ignored," "sold out," and even "kicked out" the Temperance portion of the party, there was but one course for them to pursue, namely, to nominate an independent candidate; that such a course would be a merited rebuke to that party for ignoring the views of Temperance men; that that course would secure the respect of one or more of the political parties in time to come; and if not, it would prepare the way for the formation of an independent party on Temperance principles.

Such was the drift of the various addresses. Every speaker appeared to feel that it would be impossible to rally efficiently, in so short a time, the Temperance ranks for the approaching contest; still they thought that if they could poll only 10,000 votes, it would be a declaration of principles, which would secure hereafter the favorable consideration of political parties.

The resolution thus discussed was recommitted to the Business Committee, who reported two resolutions. The first repudiates the nominees of the Republican and other parties, and the second provides for the nomination of a Temperance candidate.

An electric cabinet has been invented, and without a fresh hole by means of electricity. The connecting and necessary wires are introduced into the canvas during its manufacture, and so close to the surface, so that in the event of the painting into the hands of the enemy, they would fail to discover at least for some time, how the canvas was discharged.

[illegible]

As usual, the illustrated articles are the best in this publication. "Tony Pastor" is a "Cooking of Mutton," somewhat [illegible] and [illegible] Darwin's book: "Wild Life in Oregon," by WILLIAM R. WILLS, who observes closely and describes graphically; "Passages of Eastern Travel," by an Amateur, amusingly [illegible] the tombs of [illegible] in Egypt; and "Fashion and Literature." There are two illustrations in "Little Dorrit," (that which shows the Father of the Marshalsea leaving his prison-home is excellent.) Several cuts are "conveyed" from French into the Millinery department, that "Mother's Darling" takes on the usual fashion; and the "Minutes of Philadelphia," in six engravings, are full of fun. The book of this last set is Sally, a rough and ragged gamester, in her master's toilet, using his tooth-brush, (the sketches in the [illegible] and soliloquizing thus: "I wish Mr. Smith would get another bottle of Balm of Thousand Flowers—it do give one such a sweet breath." Mr. PETERSON will be the most ungrateful of men if he does not endow HARPER'S artist with a perpetual bottle of the Balm! The general excellence of the Magazine is fully maintained this month. The chapters relating how Dorrit took his good fortune, and in what manner he returned to liberty, are among the best DICKENS ever wrote.

MRS. STEPHENS' NEW MONTHLY.

The distinctive features of this periodical are well developed in the present number, though we still think that it is not sufficiently American. Reprint from English magazines, given as original, are too frequent here. The best articles, this month, are the continuation of Mrs. STEPHENS' new novel, and the commencement of "Harold, a story of to-day," by OLIVER BUNCE, author of the clever fiction "Bletcher Deerwood." The illustrations are good, without exception; particularly "The Power of Gold," by J. A. DALLAS, designed with a purpose, and successful in telling a story of its own, as well as in suggesting more it lies on the surface. It is "a perfect poem"—but here, PERIGRINA, we submit, is not exactly the proper person to say so, which she does in her comments on topics of the day, entitled "Things we talk about." In that article, which is written in a very pleasant, impressive manner, (and not haunted by the ghost of Joe Miller,) it is declared on the authority of persons who knew her well, that "since BYRON's death, Lady BYRON has become desperately attached to his memory, and speaks of him with most respectful fondness. It is not easy to reconcile this with the fact that, several years after his death, this "more Clytemenestra of her lord" fiercely attacked him, while publicly defending herself against MOORE's imputation that she behaved unhandsomely in the matter of the separation.

The general impression in the literary circles of London certainly is, that Lady BYRON does not entertain "the late remorse of love" for the great poet of the present era.

GRAHAM'S ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE.

The best wood engravings in the world cannot be properly worked on blotting-paper—a fact which we recommend to the notice of the proprietor of this periodical. The fashion-plate, on steel, is well executed, and so is the frontispiece, entitled "The Mother's Pets." The literature of Graham appears to have improved within the last few months. A memoir of ISABELLA of Spain is well written; a story, "My Experience in the Country," is pleasant, lively reading; some of the short tales (though almost inflammable, from the quantity of love they contain) are amusing, and the reviews of books neatly done. We notice, with pleasure, that the space formerly devoted to spun-out descriptions of fashions and that unprofitable crochet-work is much abridged, under the new management. In reward, Graham's Magazine is decidedly improved, and may be quoted in the (literary) market as "looking up."

PANORAMA OF LIFE AND LITERATURE.

A notice, historical and biographical, of JEROME SAVONAROLA, the reformer and martyr; a powerful sketch entitled "A Phase of Medical Life," retailing professional experiences on board the convict hospitals at Woolwich; a critical review, with extracts, of ANYON'S new poem; and an account of "The Secrets of the Gems," are the more noticeable of the papers in this low-priced and very readable periodical. The account, in the last-named article, of the manufacture of artificial gems at Paris, is curious and interesting. The lady admirers of Parisian jewelry may look grave when we tell them that "a mock tiara [diamond,] that may be bought for 400 francs, will look as well as a real one worth 21,000. What, then, shall be said of minor articles?"

LADIES' REPOSITORY.

This periodical is extremely fortunate, this month, in its illustrations. One is a bit of English scenery, after ALLOM, the other a mezzotint, by F. H. JONES, (a Cincinnati artist, we believe, who must be heard of one of these days,) from the beautiful but little-known portrait of JOHN MILTON, taken at the age of twelve. There is also an interesting memoir of MILTON, by Rev. D. CLARK, editor of the Magazine. In an article on CURRAN are several anecdotes quite new to us. An "Homily on Homes," by W. H. BARNES, is practical as well as well written. The writer of some stanzas called "Faded Flowers," uses the word slig. There is no such word.

HARPER'S STORY BOOKS.

The Alcove is the name of the new number of this original illustrated library for youth. It contains some further account of Timboo, Mark and Fanny, who have already figured in former parts of the work. A new character is introduced. This is General Howitz, of the United States Army, who had lost a leg in fighting with the Indians. The scene is New-York, but the subjects introduced and illustrated are very various. This is a treasure of a series for youth.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE.

The opening number of Vol. XV. of this excellent periodical, (second series,) maintains the character of this capital publication. It contains crack articles from the Westminster Review, Titan, Times, Gentleman's Magazine, Fraser, Monitor, Scotsman, Spectator, Chambers, Notes and Queries, and other foreign works. The selection is made with taste and experienced tact.

NEW-YORK CITY.

The Harbor Commissioner—Exterior Water Street about Brooklyn.

The Harbor Commissioners, in connection with General TORREY, Prof. BACHE and Commander DAVIES as an advisory Board, met yesterday morning at 10 o'clock at the Commissioners' office, No. 30 Broadway, to hear statements of parties relative to the application for the continuation of a water street along the East River shore of Brooklyn. Several large property owners along the Brooklyn shore were in attendance. These parties separately expressed their views against the proposed street. They insisted that a street with the present irregularity of the shore line was altogether impracticable, and would be productive not only of immense pecuniary loss to themselves individually, but would not advance the general commercial interests of the City. Mr. FOWLER as leading representative of the property along the shore line from Fulton-street Ferry to the foot of Pierpont-street—which extends just below the more prominent section of the Brooklyn Heights—protested against the movement as greatly injurious to this section of the City. He stated that at present the water between the two points mentioned was shut off nightly by gates in such a way as to prevent depredations or thefts being perpetrated upon the warehouses or shipping lying along here; that by the construction of such a street the present Fulton Ferry-slip would have to be entirely cut away. On the northern side of Fulton-street Ferry as far up as Newtown Creek, it was urged that the shore line was so crooked that before a water street could be laid, nearly the whole length would have to be built out, involving an immense expense. Indeed, the only portion of the shore fit to be laid out as a street was that which runs half a mile south from Fulton Ferry to the Atlantic Basin. It was decided by the Commissioners, before hearing further from those against the measure, or hearing the advocates therefor, to wait the presentation of a written memorial from both sides, setting forth at length their reasons for and against the application in question—the Commissioners to give their decision upon such presentation of facts. The Commissioners propose immediately to give their attention to the examination of the Republic docks and hearing of proper evidence, preparatory to establishing boundary lines in the East River for Kings, Queens and Richmond Counties respectively. Owing to the want of the establishment of these lines, much difficulty exists in arrests and requisition of prisoners from the Different Counties.

Killed by Godfrey's Cordial.

Coroner GRIFFIN was summoned yesterday to hold an inquest upon the body of PATRICK GLENN, a child of 7 months and 26 days, who died suddenly in the house of his parents, at No. 12 Cannon-street. It appeared from the evidence taken, that the child was in good health up to the morning of the 19th instant. From the evidence taken, it was shown that the child was given to Mrs. Ann Murray, who for a short time, in charge of Mrs. Ann Murray, who was also attending to the child of another woman, [illegible] GLENN's child, she gave it because the child was cross; she was [illegible] with Mrs. GLENN as to the [illegible] to the child.

Dr. LEDNOR, who was called to visit the child after the administration of the cordial, [illegible] found the child in a comatose state, evidently from the effects of an opiate; the lips and face were blue, as fainting, but [illegible]. He said, I believe that a teaspoonful of Godfrey's Cordial, containing as it does about two drops of laudanum, improper treatment.

The Jury rendered the following verdict: "That the said PATRICK GLENN came to his death by an opiate, at the hands of Ann Murray, administered of Godfrey's Cordial, which caused said child's death, by whether through malice or otherwise, the Jury cannot say.

Mrs. MURRAY was then committed by the Coroner, and her husband was locked up as a witness.

Anniversary of the American Bible Union.

The American Bible Union, embracing the Bible Revision enterprise, commenced their Seventh Annual Meeting to-day, at the First Baptist Church, corner of Broome and Elizabeth streets. The exercises will be prolonged two days. Besides the usual reports, there will be a number of addresses from some of the leading Revisionists. Among those engaged to speak are Rev. Dr. LEWIS, Ky., President of the Bible Revision Association; Dr. FENNING, President of Franklin College, Tenn.; Dr. HALL, Ky., Chairman of the Board of Bible Revision Association; Rev. JAMES PITMAN, Mich.; Rev. WM. CATHCART, Conn., and others. Renewed interest attaches to the present anniversary, on account of the recent difficulties between Rev. Dr. MACLAY, the former President, who lately resigned, Rev. Dr. PUSH, one of the translators employed in the New Revision, and the Board of Managers. At the Anniversary Prayer meeting, last evening, there was a large attendance, indicating that an unusually large number will be present during the stated anniversary exercises.

Found Dead in Bed—Rum the Cause.

MARY MOORE, a native of Ireland, and aged 76 years, was found dead in bed yesterday morning, at her residence, No. 12 Cannon-street. Coroner PERRY was notified. Dr. Chas. R. BORROW, who made the post mortem, was of opinion that death was caused by long and excessive use of intoxicating drinks, and the Jury rendered a verdict in accordance with the doctor's statement.

Drowned.

The body of an unknown woman was found drowned yesterday morning in a sunken lot, corner of Eleventh-avenue and Forty-first-street, to which place she is supposed to have wandered while under the influence of liquor. The body was taken to the Twenty-second Ward station house and the Coroner notified.

Run Over in Broadway.

Miss ELIZABETH VOORHIS, a young lady from Newark, N. J., was run over and severely injured in Broadway, near Exchange-place, yesterday morning, by a horse and cart driven in a careless manner by John LINCH. Officer JOHNS, of the Reserve Police Corps, arrested the driver and took him before Justice GROENE, by whom he was held to answer. Miss VOORHIS was removed to the residence of her uncle, No. 173 Division-street.

Accidentally Killed.

JOHN DEARY, an Irish laborer, aged 46 years, was killed yesterday at Bloomingdale, by the falling of the chimney of a house about which he was at work.

MARKET REPORTS.

Markets—Carefully reported for N. Y. Daily Times.

TUESDAY, Sept. 23—6 P. M.

what Southern men would have to take office [illegible] Free States!

[illegible] Free States make considerable [illegible] this disagreeable state of things. Even in the depths of his despondency, he sees gleams of light. Even if they should have "enough to do with traitors at home," in the case of discussion, the far-seeing Wise is sure they can get help from their allies in the Northern States. There are men, he thinks, in the Free States who will fight for Slavery when it comes to blows,—and then, he adds, "We have friends across the water, too!"

Who are traitors to the Union and the Constitution now?

Gas and Gas Lights.

The most unsatisfactory bill that a housekeeper pays is his gas bill. It is an imperious visitor, that thrusts himself over your threshold once a month, and, in the stand-and-deliver style, gruffly demands your money—more or less of it, as the whim takes him. If you hesitate, if you venture the opinion that you owe him less than the demand, you shall be consigned to total darkness. There is your bill! Pay it, or else burn candles, or go into the gas business yourself!

It will please our gas-consuming housekeepers to know that the Gas Companies of this City intend to reduce the price of their merchandise, in October next, from $3 to $2 50 per 1,000 cubic feet. This reduction will be a saving of some $400,000 a year to the gas consumers of New-York City. Our suburban friends over in Brooklyn, who are compelled t pay the exorbitant price of $3 50 per 1,000 cubic feet for gas, and have, withal, to submit to a certain "insolence of office" which the gas business seems to engender over there, have no such pleasant prospect for the future. If, therefore, they want gas at a reasonable price, they must remove their residences to New-York, where, in addition to cheap gas, they will find sewers, and Croton water, and all those indispensable conveniences which are precious to a housekeeper.

The first attempt to supply cities in the United States with gas was made at Baltimore in 1821, and at New-York in 1823. Both these attempts were unsuccessful.

The New-York Gas Light Company, with a capital of $1,000,000, was incorporated March 26, 1823. It was reorganized in 1827, and then commenced a successful business. The Manhattan Gas Light Company was incorporated, with a capital of $2,000,000, February 26, 1830. Upon these two Companies the City of New-York is now entirely dependent for gas. The former Company supplies all that portion of the City which is below Grand-street, and the latter Company all that portion which is between Grand-street and Seventy-sixth-street.

The New-York Gas-Light Company has one hundred and thirty miles of pipe laid through the streets of the City, ranging from four to eighteen inches in diamter. In 1855 this Company manufactured about 300,000,000 cubic feet of gas, consuming about 45,000 tons of coal. It furnished gas to 3,200 street lamps and to 9,000 private customers.

The Manhattan Gas-Light Company has one hundred and seventy-eight miles of pipe laid through the streets of the City, ranging from four to twenty inches in diameter. In 1855 this Company made 470,000,000 cubic feet of gas. It lighted 7,148 street lamps, and supplied gas to 17,300 private customers.

These Companies jointly light and keep in order for the City about 10,500 street lamps; for which they are paid $25 per annum for each lamp. This payment nets the Companies, according to their estimate, only $1 50 per 1,000 cubic feet for the gas consumed in the lamps; which is just one-half the sum charged to their private customers for gas, but is doubtless profitable to them even at that low rate.

The gas is manufactured from rich bituminous coals,—such as Cannel coal, Newcastle coal, and the Albert coal of Nova Scotia. A chaldron of Newcastle coal, weighing 27 cwt. will yield

Gas	8,600	cubic feet.
Coke	14	cwt.
Ammoniacal liquor	12½	gallons.
Thick tar	12	gallons.

A chaldron of Cannel coal will yield an average of 12,000 cubic feet of gas. The gas coal used in New-York costs about $12 per chaldron. The coke, or shell of the coal after the gas is extracted, is worth about $4 per chaldron, and makes a very pleasant fire in a grate.

The bituminous coal is thrown into a hot iron cylinder, or retort, as it is called, whose mouth is closed and sealed tight with soft clay. The vapor of the coal, distilling in the retort, passes through a tube by which it escapes into a series of vessels, called the condenser, where it cools and deposits all its tar and other condensible impurities. Thence it passes through another series of vessels, called the purifier, containing quick lime, of the consistency of cream, which cleanses the vapor of its sulphurous intermixtures. From the lime, the purified vapor of the coal, or, in other words, the gas, now flows into the gasometer, and is ready for use. From the gasometer, it is driven, through main and service pipes, into the consumer's burners.

The machinery of all gas manufactories is the same in principle, and seems now to be perfect. The chief improvements made lately in the machinery consist in the manner of applying to the gasometer the pressure which regulates the force of the gas, as it flows from the burners. The metre is the only arbiter between the gas manufacturer and the gas consumer. It is a sheet-iron drum, placed in every building, containing a system of clock machinery, which professes to measure and register upon an external dial the quantity of gas that passes through it into the burners. This instrument has frequently been subjected to severe investigations, to test its accuracy. But, though a very intelligent commission of the British House of Commons examined it and pronounced it reliable, we never yet knew a gas consumer who had perfect faith in its virtue. This general lack of faith in the instrument is, doubtless, owing to the fact that it is often caught telling improbable and impossible stories!

The consumer locks up his house and goes into the country. On his return, that ubiquitous gas bill follows him over the threshold, charging that—though his dwelling has been unoccupied during his absence—several hundred feet of gas have been burned in it! The consumer remonstrates. The gas monopolist says—Look at the metre! The consumer learns that no gas has been burnt in his house, [illegible]

[illegible] to this mysterious servitor of the Company is continually engendering a quarrel between the two parties. Of course the consumer has to submit. The only remedy for these frequent troubles seems to be, that the consumer shall pay a yearly rent for his gas, as he does for his house; or that he shall make his own gas, which he can easily do with some of the various "Portable Gas Machines" which Yankee ingenuity has recently devised.

Illuminating gas is also made from resin, covered with sawdust and distilled in a retort, in the same manner as in the manufacture of coal gas. It is twice as luminous as coal gas, and is produced at less than half the expense. The Delevan House at Albany, and the St. Nicholas Hotel in this City, are illuminated with resin gas, manufactured on the premises. The St. Nicholas Hotel has 2,500 gas burners, which consume, every night, from 10,000 to 18,000 cubic feet of resin gas. To light the same burners with coal gas would require from 18,000 to 30,000 feet of the latter. Resin gas is now coming into general use in manufactories and in private dwellings.

About a year ago, the Gas Companies in New-York, Brooklyn and Williamsburg combined to practice what we consider an outrageous swindle upon their customers. They demanded, and they still demand, from every one making application for gas, a permanent deposit of money, varying in amount from $5 to $50, before the gas can be furnished to those seeking it. For this money, a certificate of deposit is issued by the Company, which will be redeemed only when the owner, having paid his last gas bill, notifies the Company that he has no further need of their gas—if the Company is solvent at that time.

The miserable excuse offered for this extortion is that some consumers leave their last bill unpaid, and that there is no other way to protect the Company from such consumers of their profits, than by demanding from all money in advance.

That is, the community is extortionately taxed for the purpose of insuring the Gas Company from all its bad debts!

It is enough to say of this extortion that it is a direct violation of the charter of every Gas Company that has attempted it; and as such, it will doubtless receive particular attention at the next session of our Legislature. It has created an intense public odium against the monopolising character of our Gas Companies, which will probably result in breaking up the monopolies, and in opening the business of gas manufacture to that competition, which is as necessary in this as in every other branch of business in which the public is interested.

The Roman Catholic Press.

It must strike reflecting persons as not a little curious, that while a large portion of the more unscrupulous opponents of Colonel FREMONT are denouncing him as a Roman Catholic, the whole body of the Roman Catholic press are denouncing him with equal vigor, and adressing the election of Mr. BUCHANAN. BROWNSON'S Quarterly Review for October,—the leading Catholic organ in this country,—has just come out with an article upon the Presidential election, in which, while it deprecates introducing the question of religion into the canvass at all, it still declares that "it is bound in conscience to vote for Mr. BUCHANAN." It says:

"We do not urge the support of the Presidential candidate of the Democratic Party on the ground of its supposed partiality to Catholics as such. The argument adduced by some, that we ought to support that party because it has heretofore appointed Catholics to office, and will most likely do so again, has no great weight with us, and is, indeed, one we regret to see urged. Government is instituted for the common good of the governed, not for the sake of office-holders."

This is laying down very sound general maxims:—yet it is pretty generally understood that the whole Catholic vote of New-England was cast for General PIERCE in 1852, as a consideration for his appointment of a Roman Catholic Postmaster-General: and it has been furthermore asserted that the arrangement was made in the City of Boston only two or three weeks before the election.

The reason why Catholics should not ask office as such, is thus very naively stated:

"If we, as Catholics, forget this, and ask office because we are Catholics, we make ourselves a Catholic party in politics, and necessarily provoke a non-Catholic party which will oppose us."

And the Review thus makes its final appeal:

"It is not for any special benefit we, as Catholics, shall reap from supporting Mr. Buchanan, that we urge our friends to support him, but it is on broad national grounds, and in the interest of American principles, and all classes of American citizens. The Fremont men would perhaps bid higher in one sense for our votes, but our right to vote is a sacred trust, and we are bound in conscience to exercise it for the public good, according to our best judgment. We are, then, it seems to us, bound in conscience to give Mr. Buchanan our suffrages in the coming Presidential election."

This is precisely the advice given by every Roman Catholic press in the country. We cannot recall the name of a single Catholic journal that is not an open and earnest advocate of Mr. BUCHANAN'S election. Look at the list in this City:

The Freeman's Journal, (organ of Bishop HUGHES.)
The Irish News, edited by T. F. MEAGHER.
The Citizen, JOHN MITCHEL'S old paper.
The Irish American.
The Truth-Teller, a sad misnomer.

All these, comprising, so far as we know, all the Roman Catholic papers of the City, are bitter, zealous, and not very scrupulous, in their opposition to Col. FREMONT. Is it not a little singular that this should be so, if he is a Roman Catholic?

THE RESULT IN PENNSYLVANIA.—Every day the Buchanan men are losing confidence more and more in their ability to bring about a "Democratic" success in Pennsylvania, and accounts from different localities in that State which have always been looked upon as Democratic strongholds, would seem to indicate that their fears rest upon a good foundation. We find in the most reliable of the Pennsylvania papers, and are constantly receiving outselves, letters from these localities, giving glowing accounts of the progress of the Republican cause, and of the determination to rebuke at the polls that intense sectional spirit which seeks to entail upon all our free territory the incubus of Slavery. In the mining regions of Carbon and Schuylkill, especially—in every locality, in fact, which has been canvassed by friends of the Republican movement, a great revolution is taking place in the sentiment of the masses; and nothing is wanting, we are convinced, but to assure them that the election of either BUCHANAN or FILLMORE would result in the enslavement of Kansas and the adjoining Territories, to cause them to abandon the Slavery Propagandists almost to a [illegible]

[illegible] State will be [illegible] Republican speakers; and it is safe to predict that the State will be carried for Col. FREMONT by a vote as large as ever has been cast for any Presidential candidate.

KANSAS REVELATIONS.—We publish elsewhere an interesting communication from a Missourian addressed to the St. Louis Democrat on the subject of the late unsuccessful Kansas expedition. We gain from the document some insight into the modus operandi of those Missouri raids which were stimulated by the falsehoods of political leaders in their endeavors to rouse the passions of the Borderers against the Free-State settlers. We learn further that the Missourians themselves have become heartily sick of their Southern allies, who, of late, have been committing depredations upon both friend and foe. The correspondent of the Democrat affirms most positively that BUFORD'S men drew pay—only came into the Territory to vote, and intended to return home in the Fall. He makes some further revelations now given to the public for the first time, and considering the opportunities of the writer for knowing the truth, his statements are entitled to credit.

MORE FILE BITING.—Mr. J. A. MCMASTER, the editor of the Freeman's Journal,—the leading Roman Catholic newspaper in this City;—has written a letter saying that if Col. FREMONT will only write a letter saying that he has never professed to be a Roman Catholic, he will prove him to be a liar. Why wait for that? If Mr. MCMASTER knows anything at all, he knows that Col. FREMONT has denied, over and over again, that he ever was or ever professed to be a Roman Catholic. His pretence that he must have a letter from him to that effect, is all affectation. The truth is, Col. FREMONT'S enemies are especially troubled by his obstinate refusal to write letters, and thus give them fresh material for abuse. They can neither coax, nor goad him into letter writing. If HENRY CLAY had been equally prudent, he would have been elected President.

UNION SAVING.—Ex-Governor FLOYD, of Virginia, is to speak on Thursday in Wall-street. The Journal of Commerce is confident that the Union will be saved by the operation. Whether the Ex-Governor will repeat the Disunion speech he made not long ago at Lynchburg, in company with the valorous Col. KNITT, or whether he will select the speech which led the Boston Post, in 1850, to speak of him as the most dangerous of all the disunionists, we are not aware.

But is it not a little singular that the Journal of Commerce should base all its hopes of saving the Union upon the open and avowed disunionists of the South? We hope it will get TOOMBS, SLIDELL and Company to make speeches in Wall-street, before the canvass closes.

GOV. SHANNON IS A GOOD TEMPERANCE MAN.—The feelings of Gov. WILSON SHANNON have been lacerated by the assertion, which has been extensively believed, that he is given to the pleasures of the cup. He sends to the Ohio Statesman a pile of exculpatory documents, containing, among other things, an elaborate certificate from citizens of St. Clairsville, indorsing him as a man who neither drinks, nor does anything else that is improper. We are glad to know that the Governor is so proper an individual, but the certificates were needed.

TRUTH.—The Political Abolitionist devotes its entire number for October to an earnest appeal to the enemies of Slavery not to vote for Col. FREMONT. It declares that the Republican Party is not in any sense, or to any extent, committed to the doctrines of Abolition, and that it cannot be relied on to do anything whatever to promote the overthrow of Slavery. It says:

"The Republican Party is not a party for the deliverance of the enslaved, but only for the security of the free. It is not a party for the black man, but only for the white man. It is not a party for the rescue of the whole country from the despotism of the slave power, but only for the rescue of Kansas."

MARYLAND WHIGS OUT AGAIN.—The Maryland Whig Convention has put forth a long-winded address to the respectable gentlemen who sail in its boat. The issue of the document, it appears, has been delayed until after the session of the Fossil Convention, which by courtesy was called National, at Baltimore. The signers apprehend the usual train of disasters in the event of the success of Col. FREMONT, but don't say anything that strikes us as particularly new.

MR. BANKS' EXCHANGE SPEECH.—The Boston Atlas excepts to the reports of Mr. BANKS' speech at the Exchange in this City, as published in the New-York papers. The Atlas is very welcome to the TIMES' report of that speech, which we hope will not be found open to all the charges of "gross inaccuracy, typographical blunders and ungrammatical sentences" with which our Boston cotemporary compliments his brethren here.

DIED FROM NEGLECT.—It will be recollected that some time during its late session, the Texas Legislature had under consideration a joint resolution requesting the Governor to convene an extra session of that body, in the event of the election of Col. FREMONT to the Presidency. It was passed by the Senate, but was not acted upon in the House "for want of time."

AN EDITOR KILLED IN A DUEL.—A telegraphic dispatch from Charleston informs us that W. R. TABER, Esq., Editor of the Mercury of that city, was killed in a duel on Monday afternoon. Mr. TABER, since his connection with the Mercury, has been noted as one of the most strenuous advocates of Slavery Extension.

Arrival of the Philadelphia from Havana.

The U. S. Mail steamship Philadelphia, Capt. J. McGOWAN, sailed from New-Orleans at 9 A. M. of the 26th; arrived at Havana sunrise of the 29d, and left at 4 P. M., same day, for New-York, where she arrived yesterday.

The U. S. Mail steamer Granada, Capt. GRIFFIN, arrived at Havana at 10 A. M. of the 29d, with the California mails and passengers for New-Orleans.

The Philadelphia landed $50,000 in specie at Havana, and brings $34,000 for this port.

Sept. 26, off Cape Florida, passed bowsprit and lowermast of a square-rigged vessel.

During the night of the 28th, the starboard engine of the Philadelphia was disabled through the breaking of the fourth pin, and she was compelled to perform the remainder of the voyage with but one wheel.

Arrival of the President.

His Excellency FRANKLIN PIERCE, President of the United States, arrived in this City last night at 9¾ o'clock. He left Washington at an early hour yesterday morning, stopped at Baltimore for a short time, where he was received by the military, and breakfasted with the Mayor; then left for Philadelphia, where he dined, and quitted that city by the 5 o'clock P. M. train for New-York.

His Excellency was accompanied by Mr. SIDNEY WEBSTER, his Secretary, by Gen. ANDERSON, of Tennessee, and Col. HOOVER, Marshal of the District of Columbia.

When the cars reached Jersey City, His Excellency alighted and took the ferry-boat for New-York.

On reaching the Astor House, where he was to sleep, he was met by Hon. JOHN MCKEON, JOHN R. THOMPSON, Esq., JOHN COCHRANE, Esq., Judge CONNOLLY, HENRY LIERMAN, Esq., Mr. STETSON, of the Astor House, and the reporters. He was introduced to these gentlemen by Mr. SIDNEY WEBSTER.

His Excellency, in rather a humorous way, asked Mr. JOHN COCHRANE how he was running. Mr. COCHRANE replied that he was running very well. His Excellency said, "I trust you will not run off the track."

His Excellency then said to his visitors, "Gentlemen, I am glad to see you. I shall shortly retire. I am very happy to see you."

His Excellency announced his intention to leave the City this morning at 1½ o'clock, for Worcester.

POLITICAL.

The Fremont and Dayton Central Union—The Shakers for Fremont.

The heavy rain-storm of last night did not materially affect the attendance at the Lecture Room of Stuyvesant Institute, in answer to a call from the Fremont and Dayton Central Union. The room was crowded, and the meeting was one of the most enthusiastic of the campaign. Excellent addresses were delivered by A. OAKEY HALL, Esq., of this City, and Judge DOOLITTLE, of Wisconsin. During the evening a gentleman from Genesee County stated that on Sunday last he was in Lebanon, where he heard Elder EVANS deliver a very earnest and effective Republican discourse to four hundred of his Shaker brethren, all of whom intend to vote for Freedom and FREMONT in November next. The Elder said that when there was nothing of more importance in politics than questions of tariffs and sub-treasuries, it was not their duty to interfere—then politics might be left entirely with the "World's people." But when Freedom was at stake it became a duty to let their votes be given in its defence. The announcement was received with great applause.

New Republican Organization.

A new Republican organization, called the "Young Men's Republican General Committee," has been organized in this city. Its headquarters are at Clinton Hall, Astor-place. The body will be composed of three delegates from each Ward. Messrs. M. DUFUY, L. A. DIBRON, and C. B. WHEELER, were chosen last night to represent the Second Ward in the Committee.

Nearly all the other Wards have also appointed delegates, and the Association promises to be a very useful one in the coming campaign.

Mechanics' and Workingmen's Central Republican Union.

The Mechanics' and Workingmen's Central Republican Union held last evening an interesting and animated meeting, with a numerous auditory, notwithstanding the rainy and disagreeable weather. CHAUNCEY SCHAFFER opened with an excellent practical speech on City politics, and the political duties of the mechanic and workingman at this important crisis. He was succeeded by Mr. JOHN FITCH, in a highly interesting address. Mr. JAMES FAIRMAN, a mechanic, made the closing address, which was a very able one.

☞ On Saturday evening the friends of FREMONT and Freedom at Milltown, Putnam Co., and vicinity, assembled to listen to a presentation of the issues of the campaign by J. G. MILLIS, Esq., of Carmel, in that county, and Col. TARBELL, of Erie. So engaged are our friends there that they adjourned to meet again on Wednesday evening of this week, to hear from Judge ROSEBRUGH, of Westchester, and Col. TARBELL. A third and still larger gathering is the object of our enthusiastic friends at Milltown.

German Republicans.

A mass meeting of the German Republicans of Kings Co. was held last Saturday evening at Constitution Hall. There were gathered together a vast number of respectable German citizens from Kings Co., as well as from New-York and Hoboken; the fair sex was also well represented to the great enjoyment of those present. The meeting was called to order by Mr. EM. WITZEL, whereupon RUDOLPH GARRIGUE, Esq., President of the German Society, was elected Chairman, and Mr. F. W. RUPERT Secretary. After the Marseillaise had been sung, Mr. GARRIGUE addressed the meeting in a most impressive speech. Then Messrs. MALLINCKRODT and GRUNE followed, and their speeches, as well as that of the Chairman, were often interrupted by enthusiastic applause. At 11 o'clock the meeting adjourned, and forming a procession headed down Court-street, headed by a brass band, and accompanied by banners and transparencies with devices relating to the principles of the Republican Party.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.
From the Courier and Enquirer.
No traveler should be without this book, which is published monthly, and by authority from official information.
From the New-York Tribune.
The completeness of this work, and its apparent general accuracy, recommend it to the attention of travelers, whether on excursions of business or pleasure.
From the American Railway Times.
This is a most admirably arranged travelers' guide, and we cordially recommend it to the public. It is the most complete thing of the kind ever published in this or any country.
From the Cincinnati Commercial.
Appletons' Railway Guide is, without exception, the most complete work of the kind ever published. Mr. G. F. Thomas, the original projector and compiler of the Guide, was for many years a resident of our city, and is well known to many of our citizens as peculiarly competent for a work of this kind.
Extract from the Musical Harp.
This is decidedly the best Guide in the world—farahead of Bradshaw's celebrated English work. It is illustrated by over sixty maps, and contains over two hundred pages. It is a work that should be placed in the hands of every man, woman and child in the United States.
From the Natchez Courier.
One of the most valuable cheap publications we have lately met with is Appletons' Railway and Steam Navigation Guide.
From the Louisville Journal.
Appletons' Railway Guide is the best work ever published, every important road being represented by a map.
From the Pittsfield Sun.
Appletons' Railway Guide is decidedly the best publication of the kind.
From the Bridgeport Republican.
Appletons' Guide is the cheapest and best publication of the kind in existence.
From Godey's Lady's Book.
One of the most valuable and reliable Guides we have ever noticed. It contains Time-Tables, Fares, Distances, Maps of all the Railroads and Rivers in the United States and Canadas.
From the Columbian, Cincinnati, Ohio.
Mr. G. F. Thomas, the projector of this work, was the compiler of Mendenhall & Co.'s large Sectional Map of Ohio; also, compiler and general traveling agent for Middleton, Wallace & Co.'s United States Railway Map—the largest and most reliable Railway Map ever published; and having traveled over nearly all of the Railways during the past several years, is fully competent for a work of the kind.
From the Cincinnati Times.
Appletons' Railway and Steam Navigation Guide is without exception, the best railway guide ever published. It is not a mere collection of time tables. Every road of note is represented by a map of the road placed opposite their advertisement and time table, which map also delineates the connecting lines. The Guide also contains interesting literary as well as national matter, which is changed every month. To travelers we believe this work indispensable. The information imparted is so plain a child can easily comprehend it.

FANNY HUNTER'S
"WESTERN BORDER LIFE."
"ORIGINAL."—"FULL OF HUMOR"—"WOMANLY."
Says the New-York Independent:
"Fanny Hunter is not a fictitious personage, but a real person telling her own experience of actual life. She is wide-awake, too, sprightly, observant, good at story-telling, with a dash of humor, and a deep, earnest, womanly sentiment for humanity, freedom and religion. Her book has a positive and an intrinsic interest, and as a narrative of substantial facts it will introduce the reader to real life in our border Slave States, as no fiction can portray this. We doubt not that 'Fanny' will find many friends who will insist upon calling her out from behind the curtain to receive in propria persona their congratulations upon her successful debut.

New-York, Sept. 22, 1856.

COTTAGE SCHOOL ON GOLDEN HILL.—The number of pupils is limited to ten. The design of the school is to furnish a thorough preparation for college or for mercantile life. Lessons are given in free hand, architectural and mechanical drawing, by Mr. Louis Ball, recently elected professor in the scientific department of Yale College. The French language is taught by Mr. Jacob Dalpe, a native of France, a sincere Protestant, and who has been seven years in America, and in that time has completed the academical course, and taken the degree of Bachelor of Arts, at a New England college. Mr. Dalpe resides in the family, and will exert himself to promote the daily use of the language among his pupils. A circular will be forwarded to any applicant. The Winter term will commence on the 1st Nov. HENRY JONES, Principal—Bridgeport, Conn. Oct. 1st, 1856.

BOARDING SCHOOL FOR BOYS, NORWALK, CONN.—C. M. SELLECK, Principal.—The Winter Term of this School will commence on Wednesday, the 15th of October next. The design of the Principal is by affording proper facilities to prepare the pupils committed to his care for college, or for entering upon the commercial and business pursuits of life. To attain this, competent teachers are provided in each department of the School. The modern languages are taught; also, music, drawing, etc. For circulars containing terms, etc., apply to Principal.

REFERENCES.—Rev. R. B. Van Kleeck, D. D., Bible House; Hon. A. Oakey Hall, City Hall, New-York.

THE ENGLISH, FRENCH AND CLASSICAL SCHOOL.—In charge of the undersigned, is now commencing its ninth year. A few vacancies exist. Parents, on inspection or inquiry, will find the location accessible and convenient—the room large, pleasant and commodious. The number of pupils is limited to twenty-five, all of whom are taught by the Principal only, except in the French and writing. In these branches the best Professors are employed. His entire time and best endeavors are devoted by the undersigned to the welfare and improvement of the school. Terms from $100 to $150 per year. No. 81 East 10th-st. J. H. TYNG.

CLASSICAL, FRENCH AND ENGLISH SCHOOL.—No. 672 Broadway, corner of 18th-st., reopens Sept. 8. In addition to the junior department for boys, from 6 to 10 years of age, there will be during the ensuing year a Primary Department for boys of from 6 to 8 years. The most advanced pupils of the school will be carried through the studies of the Freshman class of a College, so that they may enter as Sophomores in 1857. Due attention is paid to Gymnastics. Circulars may be had at the school, at No. 152 3d-av., and at A. D. RANDOLPH'S bookstore, corner of Broadway and Anthony-st. GEORGE C. ANTHON.

MEDICAL.

R. R.—THE AUDACIOUS TRUTH ON RECORD.—We have time and again proclaimed and proved that our Remedies have cured, will stop pain, and save the patient of disease, quicker, safer, and more effectual than any other medicines or methods in the world.

Until Radway's Ready Relief was introduced to the world, who ever heard of the most agonizing pains being stopped in a few moments? of the weak, lonely and infirm being suddenly restored to strength? of the lame, dislocated and crippled taken from their crutches, and every limb and member of the body restored to soundness, elasticity and vigor in a few hours? or of the bedridden invalids and persons relieved from their beds of disease in one single night? Radway's Ready Relief has done this, and is doing it every day, hundreds throughout the United States can testify to the remarkably quick cures made by Radway's Ready Relief in stopping pain.

TESTIMONIAL.

We request the attention of the reader to a few out of thousands of cases of cures made, and pains stopped by Radway's Relief, Resolvent and Regulators.

☞ RHEUMATIC PAINS.—The most severe Paroxysms of Rheumatism, have been stopped in five minutes, after the first application of the Ready Relief.

☞ NEURALGIC SPASMS.—The most torturing darts of this terrible pain has been soothed and entirely stopped in ten minutes, after the first application.

☞ LUMBAGO STIFF BACK.—Pains across the loins and small of the back; pains along the spine; pains in the chest and shoulder blades. The most severe Paroxysms of pain have been entirely stopped by five minutes rubbing with the Ready Relief. Let those who have taken a recent cold, and are suffering from any of these complaints, give the painful parts five minutes rubbing, and you will enjoy ease and comfort. A dose of Radway's Regulators will restore regularity to the system and withdraw from the intestines all irritating and unhealthy deposits.

☞ BLEEDING FROM THE LUNGS.—Radway's Renovating Resolvent will, in a few minutes, check hemorrages from the lungs or throat. In cases where the patient coughs up clots of blood or pus, streaked with blood, Radway's Resolvent will soon remove the difficulty.

☞ SARAH HAMMOND, of No. 196 East 22d-st., had a bad cough for two years; she coughed up sometimes half a pint of blood during the night. She was cured in seven days by the Relief and Resolvent.

☞ SCARLET FEVER.—Radway's Relief and Regulators have cured more cases of Scarlet Fever during the past year than all the Doctors in the United States put together.

☞ SMALL POX.—Radway's Relief is a disinfectant of all infectious diseases. Wash the hands and take a do e of the Ready Relief internally, and you need not fear to visit the most infectious places.

☞ INFIRMITIES.—We have known old men and women who were borne down with aches, pains, weakness of the joints, and other infirmities of age, by bathing with the Ready Relief become active, vigorous, lively and supple. Let those who now have to use walking sticks, crutches, &c., from weakness of the joints, rub themselves with the Ready Relief and you will no longer need the aid of walking sticks, or anything else—your own legs will do their duty and carry you safe.

☞ RHEUMATISM.—William Freely was relieved of the most torturing pains in fifteen minutes after he tried the Relief, and was enabled to get out of bed in which he had laid for over fifteen months, in 12 hours after he had first used the Relief.

☞ CHRONIC RHEUMATISM.—Of ten years' duration has been cured in six days by the use of Radway's Relief, Resolvent and Regulators; no pain was felt half an hour after the Relief was first applied.

☞ TOOTH ACHE.—In over 100,000 cases where the Relief has been used, it has never taken over five minutes to stop the most excruciating pain.

☞ HEAD ACHE.—In fifteen minutes the most terrible sick or nervous head aches have been cured by the Relief and Regulators.

☞ BURNS AND SCALDS.—Radway's Ready Relief has never failed in taking the fire out of the worst burns and scalds in five minutes after it is applied.

☞ SORE THROAT.—In five minutes Radway's Ready Relief will remove the soreness from the most severe sore throat.

☞ STIFF NECKS.—From cold or otherwise, Radway's Relief will remove the stiffness by five minutes rubbing.

☞ HOARSENESS.—Radway's Relief and Regulators will relieve and cure the most desperate attacks in one hour and a half.

☞ DIFFICULT BREATHING.—In five minutes Radway's Relief will enable you to breathe free and easy.

☞ BAD COUGH.—Radway's Resolvent and Relief has stopped the most troublesome and annoying cough in fifteen minutes.

☞ BAD COLDS—Are invariably cured in twelve hours by the Regulators and Relief.

☞ INFLUENZA.—The most severe attacks are removed by one night's operation of the Relief and Regulators.

☞ WHOOPING COUGH.—Thousands of cases of Whooping Cough have been cured in a few days by the Resolvent and Relief, and, if the Whooping Cough is prevalent in the neighborhood, those who take half a tea spoonful of Ready Relief in a little water, once or twice per day, will never catch it. Radway's Relief destroys the infection of "Whooping Cough."

☞ MEASLES.—Radway's Regulators and Relief will prevent an attack of Measles, and if afflicted, will cure it in three days.

☞ DYSENTERY.—Radway's Relief has cured the most severe attacks in fifteen minutes.

☞ A SORE LEG FOR 21 YEARS.—Cured in three weeks, by Radway's Relief, &c. Mr. T. H. KILGO, a merchant of high standing in Dahlonega, Ga., says: That a gentleman who, for 21 years, had been afflicted with a sore leg, that resisted every kind of treatment, was effectually cured in three weeks, by Radway's Ready Relief, Resolvent and Regulators.

☞ FEVER AND AGUE.—If Radway's Relief is taken in large doses of a table spoonful every hour for three hours, before the paroxysms are expected, and a large dose of Regulators taken, no more Ague and Fever will trouble you, the same treatment followed up for a week, will eradicate the poison from the system.

☞ BILIOUS COLIC.—In five minutes after Radway's Ready Relief is taken, the most painful irritations in the stomach and violent vomiting will cease; a dose of Regulators should be swallowed. In six hours the patient will enjoy ease and comfort, and entire freedom from biliousness.

☞ SPRAINS.—Radway's Relief applied to the sprained limb or strained muscle or tendon, will remove all soreness and restore the injured parts to their natural strength, in ten or fifteen minutes.

☞ NERVOUSNESS.—Radway's Relief and Regulators are a blessing to the nervous; in a few minutes after the Relief is taken, the most dismal feelings of the nervous give way to joy and delight. These Remedies strengthen and brace up the nerves. Let those who are troubled with Nervous tremors and sleepless nights resort to these Remedies, and once more enjoy a night's rest, and pleasant thoughts.

☞ TOBACCO CHEWERS.—Those who have become reduced by the effect of tobacco, or the indulgence in pernicious liquors, who feel the HORRORS of incapacity, weakness, sterility and the infirmities which a fast and intemperate, luxurious and lustful course of life inflicts upon its victims, will find relief from all these horrors, and sure restoration to health, strength and vigor, by the use of Radway's Relief, Regulators and Resolvent.
RADWAY & CO., No. 162 Fulton-st., N. Y.

R. R. Remedies sold by merchants, druggists and storekeepers everywhere.

DR. WARD'S UNFORTUNATE'S FRIEND is the NE PLUS ULTRA OF VENEREAL MEDICINE, and but requires to be known to meet with universal approbation, and to stamp DR. WARD as the greatest benefactor of the day.

Dr. WARD hereby offers a reward of $5,000 to any physician who, after a proper demonstration, can cure private diseases with equally uniform celerity, ease, safety and cheapness as he can. Innumerable cases progress in defiance of all the doctors can do; but by his wonderful specific and his perfect knowledge of every stage of every disease, he either alleviates or cures in one day. Those who doubt this assertion should call, and he will cure them without charge. Remember, all ye who have been lingering for weeks and months, drinking nauseous compounds which destroy the stomach, and swallowing poisonous pills that undermine the constitution, that by calling on Dr. WARD you may, in a few days, enjoy the pleasures of life, and feel that "Richard is himself again."

SURE CURE.—The Great Remedy, DR. WARD'S UNFORTUNATE'S FRIEND.—Nothing else makes a thorough cure of private diseases, the infallible friend of the afflicted. Other remedies are worse than useless. It alone cures that it never retirns; removes the disease without leaving its poison in the blood to contaminate the system and break out continually. $1. Sold at the old-established office, Canal-st., corner of Broadway.

The following are the diseases in which Dr. Ward may be consulted, and in which he guarantees a cure after every other physician has failed: Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis, or the real Venereal; all the forms of Secondary Symptoms; Spermatorrhœa; and a certain description of Nervous Debility. Patients communicating from a distance may be certain of receiving advice and medicine duly by express. Letters should be post-paid, and contain five dollars, in order to receive due attention. Prompt advice, all the requisite medicines, as well as a cure guaranteed, to those transmitting that amount. Office, Canal-st., one door east of Broadway.

IMPORTANT TO FEMALES—DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS.—The combinations of the ingredients in these Pills are the result of a long and extensive practice. They are mild in their operation, and certain in correcting all irregularities, painful menstruation, removing all obstructions, whether from cold, or otherwise, headache, pain in the side, palpitation of the heart, disturbed sleep, which always arise from interruption of nature. Warranted purely vegetable, and free from anything injurious to life or health. Explicit directions, which should be read, accompany each box. Price $1. For sale by CHARLES H. RING, No. 199 Broadway; C. V. CLICKENER & CO., No. 81 Barclay-st.; BARNES & PARK, No. 404 Broadway, and Druggists generally. Sent by mail by inclosing $1 to Dr. CORNELIUS I. CHEESEMAN, Box No. 4,601 Post-Office, New-York City.

[illegible] I thank you for the compliment [illegible] honor to preside over [illegible] of a gathering of Republicans—of [illegible] so large and so respectable as the one [illegible] tonight. The name of Republican has [illegible] an honored one to my ears. My first vote [illegible] for a Republican candidate, thirty-five years [illegible] I can truly say I have never given a vote [illegible] for any one not professing himself a Republican. [illegible] of the Republican party in this [illegible] Whig Republican Association [illegible] part of the union [illegible] Officers of the [illegible]

[illegible] we may [illegible] by thousands. [illegible] always call out the latent [illegible] to arrest the evils, and to [illegible] the dangers which surround us, and loudly [illegible] the development of the [illegible] which have too long lain dormant. [illegible] forbearing as the free citizens of [illegible] have been towards their Southern brethren [illegible] we have not conceded enough! preserving [illegible] the compromises of the Constitution, which [illegible] them in the enjoyment of their "peculiar [illegible] and throw the shield of the Republic [illegible] equal privileges in Slave representation; [illegible] said, "the fear of Heaven on the [illegible], and hiding our honor in our necessity," [illegible] the enormity of tolerating Slavery [illegible] the capital of our free and independent [illegible] solely from feelings of amity to our South[illegible] and indifference to their prejudices [illegible] submitting for years to be [illegible] as "Northern men with [illegible]!" Notwithstanding all these [illegible] of brotherly kindness and forbearance, what has [illegible] received? The solemn compacts of the past [illegible] under foot! The boun[illegible] privilege (already enormously unequal) [illegible] and removed; and a flood of outrage, [illegible] and murder in its course, poured over [illegible] dedicated to freedom! But all our troubles spring from that one insane [illegible] of the repeal of the Missouri Compromise—no man [illegible] doubt.

I have been gratified in revisiting in a correspond[illegible] held with an influential member of Congress in the winter of 1854 on this subject. In February of [illegible] I received a letter asking my views on the then pending "Nebraska bill," and replied at some length (though briefly, considering the theme,) [illegible] my objections to the measure as one fraught with danger from every point of view. How truly and how fully the dangers I apprehended from its [illegible] have been realized, in the short space of 50 months, the crisis we have reached will bear me wit[illegible]

If you will indulge me with a hearing I will read [illegible] then said, and leave you to judge whether the prediction and its fulfillment were very far apart. This is my letter:

To Hon. Gilbert Dean, Washington City:

NEW-YORK, Friday, Feb. 17, 1854.

MY DEAR SIR: Yours of the 11th inst. is received, and I proceed to answer your inquiries.

Whatever men who hold offices, or want them, may say, or believe at public meetings, I think the sober judgment of the great body of the people of the North in respect to the Nebraska Bill, may be summed up as follows:

IT IS UNJUST TO THE NORTH.

1st. Because it opens to the extension of Slavery a section of country from which, by the Missouri Compromise of 1820, (a solemn compact between the North and the South,) it was excluded.

2d. Because it is a violation of the agreement with which we succeeded to the compromise of 1850. We were told that there would be an end of all Slavery agitation; that the compromise of 1820 settled all question as to the Louisiana territory; that the compromise of 1850 settled it as to the Territory acquired from Mexico; and that there was to be no further action on the subject in or out of Congress. We acceded to the compromise of 1850 with this solemn understanding.

The Nebraska Bill is a direct violation of it, by subverting the compromise of 1820, not only [illegible] the compromise of 1850 a false construction, which would have been fatal to it if it had been avowed, but a construction utterly at variance with all the reasonings and pledges which were tendered to us to secure our acquiescence in it.

IT IS UNJUST TO THE SOUTH.

1. Because in reference to Southern interests, it is anti-conservative, and weakens the Compromise of 1850 by an example of infidelity to solemn obligations, which should be binding on all honorable men, and on the observance of which their security essentially depends.

2d. Because it draws into doubt the good faith of Northern men, by manifesting a determination on their part to extend Slavery, in disregard of the pledges they have given us, and lowers the moral tone which has always been their pride, and which we of the North have not unwillingly conceded to them.

3. Because it asks them to violate a solemn compact to which they should be faithful against all solicitation, whether in the shape of mercenary induements among themselves, or of political aspirations at home or abroad, tendering to them a dishonorable advantage, in the hope of obtaining from them, as a compensation, an equally dishonorable support.

IT IS UNJUST TO THE DEMOCRACY OF THE UNION.

1st. Because it places us in contradiction to the position assumed by us during the late canvass for the Presidency, and casts upon us the odium of infidelity to solemn compacts.

2d. Because it will dishearten multitudes of honest men, who have at heart the public quietude, and the preservation of the public faith, and who, deceived by the assurances of those whom they have followed, will absent themselves from the polls in 1856, and endanger the ascendancy of the Democracy and its principles.

IT IS UNJUST TO THE WHOLE COUNTRY.

1st. Because it will disturb the public tranquility by opening a fountain of bitterness, which, as we supposed, was effectually closed, and by unsettling a question sanctioned by the acquiescence of two generations, and the lapse of more than a third of a century.

2d. Because it impairs the sanctity of all compromises, and makes the solemn compacts of the past, subservient to the ends of time-serving politicians, and the [illegible] interests of the hour.

3d. Because it will renew agitation, breed distrust between the North and the South, alienate friendly [illegible], and resuscitate the Hydra of Sectional Controversy.

4th. Because it will inflict a lasting wound upon the [illegible] of the country by degrading the standard of political morality and impairing confidence in those who direct the public councils.

I have given you my views as briefly as possible, and I believe they are the views of the people. They are susceptible of elaboration to any extent; and if they are sound, they ought to be sufficient for honorable men. Very sincerely, yours, &c.,

ANTHONY J. BLEECKER.

Now, fellow-citizens, have not all these evils come to pass? Has not the North experienced the injustice of this nefarious measure, by the abrogation of a compact made for its defence? Has not the South violated her right to the maintenance of the compact of 1820? Has not her good faith been drawn into question, by proved to be a nullity? Has not her moral standard been lowered and her chivalry become a by-word? Has not the Democracy of the Union been disgraced, by proof afforded of their "infidelity to solemn compacts?" and have not "multitudes, who have at heart the public quietude, and the preservation of the public faith," been disheartened by the breach of the compromises of the fathers of the Republic? Has not the sanctity of all compromises been impaired by the disturbance of the peace of the country? Has not all true patriots would fain [illegible] the old ship of State of "sectional controversy," passed its many hands, and [illegible] action in the land? And has not our country received a lasting wound in her reputation for her honor?

Shocking Attempt to Commit Suicide.—Last evening a man named Gamble, the captain of a coal vessel, was arrested on the charge of obtaining goods upon false pretences. The accused was unable to obtain bail, and he was accordingly lodged in a cell in the Nineteenth Ward Station-House. This morning, the cell door was opened and the prisoner was found lying in a pool of blood, with a horrible gash in his throat, and with numerous wounds in both arms. Dr. Houghton was immediately summoned and dressed the wounds of the man. The windpipe was found to be completely severed. The doctor thinks the wounds will not prove fatal. The would-be suicide stated he had been an hour and a half inflicting the wounds upon himself. His weapon, a common jack knife, was very dull, and he was fearful that if he was in too great a hurry about the job he would be heard and stopped!—Captain Gamble belongs at Newport, where he has a family. He says he was driven to the act by trouble. He was perfectly sober at the time. There was a prisoner in the same cell with him, who was asleep during the time the cutting was in progress. —Phila. Evening Bulletin, 26th.

An Unfortunate Whaling Cruise.—We learn from the New-London Star that the brig Georgiana, Capt. Huddington, arrived at New-London, Ct., on Wednesday evening, from a whaling voyage, having lost fourteen out of twenty-three of her crew, by scurvy, during the past Winter. Among them were Charles M. Kelly, of Massachusetts, Henry Morgan, of Portland, Me., and Charles Metcalf, of Vermont. The Georgiana wintered in Frobisher's Straits. In the Spring they were threatened with an attack by the natives, and from this cause, and the reduction of the crew by disease, Capt. H. sailed for home—having taken but ten barrels of oil. The G. left New-London April 11, 1855, and has not been reported during her absence.

Tuesday, Sept. 30—P. M.

The day was an active one in Money affairs. The arrangement of the 1st October dividends, and the preparations for the steamer Asia, sailing at an early hour to-morrow, caused an extra inquiry for money, particularly from some of the demand borrowers. The bankers in the foreign trade bought heavily of Sterling, and at lower figures than the currency of the previous packet, and had also to pay for about a million of dollars in bullion. On London there was a good deal done for cash at 109½@109⅞, though the regular drawing terms to the trade were 109⅞@110⅜. A sale of Philadelphia drawn bills, the second installment on the Lebanon Valley negotiation, was reported at 109¾ [illegible] 5.15⅞@5.13. The [illegible] the packet were short of $1,000,000 [illegible] office at the close of Change. [illegible] gain names 10@12 ⅌ cent., with a larger offering. The Banks are discounting their income, which, on and after the 4th October, will be heavy. Business paper is well met, and in the Jobbing and Grocery line, trade is active and generally satisfactory. The Sugar speculators have been relieved by a free consumptive demand.

The Stock market is without material change from Monday, except for New-York and Erie shares, which rule firmer, and close 62⅞ ⅌ cent. The circle of buyers has been enlarged this week. In Reading, the speculation for a fall is vigorously pressed, and the stock left off 81¾ ⅌ cent. this afternoon. There is nothing more known of the rumored transfer of the President to another Railway concern. The Western Road list is weaker and so are Delaware and Hudson, Pennsylvania Coal and New-York Central Shares, say ¼@¾ ⅌ cent. off since Monday. One or two of the State loans are also weaker; made so by offers on time at option of the seller. The new Ohio loan is to be awarded to-morrow. The New-York Canal Commissioners are out with proposals for $1,250,000 6 ⅌ cents, 18 years to run. The general market closes steady at second board quotations; though we have to reiterate the fact that the Bear interest continue, with the exception of one or two stocks, to hold the ascendancy. This may sound the more remarkable, as the general feeling in banking and mercantile circles is one of satisfaction with the current movements of business and of confidence in the prospects of trade for the Autumn and Winter.

Further dividend notices are published for October by Winslow, Lanier & Co., on the Bonds of the Bellefontaine and Indiana Road, and on the Bonds of Union and Shelby Counties, Ohio. The interest on the Sacramento Water Loan will be paid by Wells, Fargo & Co. The Chemical Bank pays a quarterly dividend of 6 ⅌ cent. on the first of October.

Money Circular for Europe.

[Translated Extract.]

NEW-YORK, Monday, September 30, 1856.

Our market, since our last advices of the 22d inst., shows a pretty general decline. The effect of further considerable specie shipment during the week was partly counteracted by a full complement of the usual gold receipts from California; but, on receipt of the Liverpool news to the 17th inst., which successively reached us, bringing the advices of an increased demand for Money in the principal banking cities of Europe, an unfavorable influence was exercised on our Stock market. Animated transactions through the week were continued, but accompanied by a decline in prices more particularly marked on Railroad shares. Those of the Erie and Reading Railroads have continued to give rise to much speculation. Spite of the reduction of the amount of specie and deposits in the banks of the City of New-York, according to the last weekly report, there is no scarcity of Money, although the demand is rather more active. State Stocks—Missouri 6s at ⅜ advance; Virginia 6s and Indiana 5s, at a shade decline, were actively dealt in; Tennessee 6s, with few transactions, declined 1¾ ⅌ cent. City and County Bonds continue very quiet. A pretty large amount of New-York City 6s, 1869, and 5s and 7s of 1860, changed hands at well sustained rates. Railroad Bonds—With moderate activity Illinois Central Construction have advanced ¼. Fundlands, with privilege, after touching 107, close at a decline. There was a good demand for Erie 7s, 1871, at well maintained rates; for 7s, 1875, at 1 decline, and for New-York Central 6s, at ⅜ decline. Railroad Shares—Much activity prevailed in Erie, Reading and Cleveland and Toledo, the two former closing at ⅛@⅜ decline, and the latter at 1⅛ decline. With the exception of Illinois Central, which have risen ⅜, the decline is general. There were also transactions of some importance in the following, with a decline as follows on Chicago and Rock Island of 1¼; on Michigan Central of ½, on Michigan Southern of 1¾, and on New-York Central of ⅜ ⅌ cent. Money, without being difficult to procure, is in better demand at 7 for call loans; and 6@12 for paper. Exchange, on London, 109⅞@109⅞; Paris, 5.15@5.13¾.

Sales of Cotton for the week [illegible]

Since our advices of 23d inst., the tendency of the market has been downward. The movement, though active in Railroad stocks, especially in Erie, Reading and Michigan Southern, have been only limited in State Stocks and Railroad Bonds. This decline was mostly caused by some feeling of uneasiness on account of the heavy exportations of Specie during the last fortnight, and also by the report of a tightening Money market in London, received by Canada. The Baltic's news, received yesterday morning, reporting a rise in the English Funds, and the almost entire cessation of the purchases of Gold [illegible] of the Bank of France, had a favorable [illegible] our market, but later in the day the [illegible] of a loss of about $1,400,000 of Specie [illegible] Bank Statement, inspired new confidence [illegible] speculators for a decline, and the whole [illegible] except Erie, leaves off dull. In the meanwhile Money remains in sufficient supply, only Discounts having slightly advanced, and there is every reason to believe that the exportation of Breadstuffs and Cotton will very soon reduce the figure of gold shipments, and prevent the duration of a pressure in Money if there should be any. State Stocks.—Virginia declined ¼; Tennessee 1¼; Missouri ¼; Indiana, without change. City and County Bonds.—There is an improvement in this kind of securities; the demand remains as limited as it has been for many weeks past. Railroad Bonds.—Without much animation, Illinois Central Bonds have not changed. Freeland Bonds, with privilege, sold at 107; Erie Bonds, a trifle lower; nothing doing in Western Railroad Bonds. Railroad Shares.—The business done has been considerable; Erie touched 63⅜, falling back to 61⅞, and closing at 62⅜; Reading declined 2¾; New-York Central 1⅞; Panama 2¾; Michigan Central ⅞; Michigan Southern 1¼; Cleveland and Toledo 1¾; Chicago and Rock Island 1¼; Cleveland and Pittsburg ⅝; Galena and Chicago ⅜; Milwaukee and Mississippi 1; Hudson River 1¾; La Crosse and Milwaukee rose 1; Illinois Central ¼. Money, has been in good demand on call, but with an adequate supply. Discounts are a trifle higher, say 8@9 for first-class bills; 10@12 for names less known. Exchanges.—Dull for Sterling, firm on the Continent. London 109⅞@¾; Paris 5.15¼@5.13.

Semi-Monthly Circular for Europe.

[Extract.]

NEW-YORK, Tuesday, Sept. 30, 1856.

The course of the Stock Market, during the past fortnight, has been marked by great activity, particularly in the leading Railroad Shares, with considerable fluctuations in prices. The upward tendency noticed in our report of 16th inst. continued until 18th inst., when the highest point was touched. Since that date the tendency has been downward, with occasional slight reactions, the unfavorable character of the late financial advices from Europe, and the resumption of specie shipments to an amount largely exceeding the receipts of gold from California, having impaired confidence to some extent in the continuance of an easy state of the Money Market on this side. As yet, however, although the demand is rather more active, there are no symptoms of stringency, but it is expected by many that a material curtailment by the banks will shortly be found necessary. It is apparently to this anticipation, rather than to any existing deficiency of means to carry stocks, that the late decline in prices is attributable. In Railroad Shares the business has been very large, and the course of prices irregular. At the moment of greatest buoyancy, Erie sold at 63¾, Reading at 84¾, and New-York Central at 87¾. The closing quotations, as compared with those given in our last report, show a decline of 1¾ in New-York Central, 4¾ in Reading, 2¾ in Cleveland and Toledo, 2¾ in Michigan Southern, 1¼ in Michigan Central and 3 in Panama. In Erie there is an advance of ¾, and in Illinois Central 1. Of the last, the sales have been to a fair extent at 117@119¼, closing at 118. For the rights, 129¾ is bid, 125 asked. The Chicago and Rock Island and New-Haven and Hartford Railroads have each declared a dividend of 5 ⅌ cent., payable in October. The rates of money are about the same as last quoted, call loans being readily obtained at 7 ⅌ cent., and discount on first-class paper ranging from 8 to 10 ⅌ cent. The supply of paper outside of the banks is not large. The market for Foreign Exchanges has [illegible] during the fortnight, but for this mail there is rather less activity and a better supply of bills. The shipments of specie since 16th inst. amount to $3,458,645, and the receipts of gold from California to $1,867,148.

CAMMANN & CO.

New-York and Erie Road.

To the Editor of the New-York Daily Times:

The period which closes the financial year of the New-York and Erie Railway Company draws near, and the annual election and meeting of the shareholders will shortly be held. In common with other shareholders, I have carefully noticed the management of this corporation, and in every respect save one I have reason to approve of it. It is generally admitted, that no other railway in this country is so well managed with respect to the accurate running arrangements, the safety and comfort of the passengers, and the economy of the expenditure. The reports given to us from time to time are certainly models for other companies, being clear and minute and highly satisfactory, as showing that the business of the last two years has resulted in a net profit of probably near, if not over, 20 ⅌ cent. upon the capital stock of $10,000,000, or, over $2,000,000; yet notwithstanding that this very large sum has been honestly earned, no dividend has been given to us. There are many persons who think well of the company and its prospects, who only wait for the resumption of dividends to purchase for permanent investment; now, surely, the profits already earned belong to the present shareholders and not the future ones; besides, for the want of dividends the shares, though well worth 80, are being kicked about at 60, for the reason that but few can afford to hold property which pays no interest. I therefore call the attention of the shareholders and the directors to this matter, and respectfully submit that the time has arrived for us to vindicate the worth of our investment, and ask for an expression of opinion by them as to the policy to be recommended for adoption by the Board of Directors at the October annual meeting. A SHAREHOLDER.

The Anthracite Coal Trade.

From the Philadelphia Ledger.

The Anthracite coal trade continues active so far as the supply from the mines is concerned. For the week ending on Saturday last the shipments on the Lehigh Navigation were 54,715 tons, and for the season to that date 852,231 tons, against 948,302 tons to corresponding date last year. The supply for the week ending on the same day from the Lehigh region, by way of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, was 8,863 tons, and for the season 111,967 tons. The amount by the two companies exceeds the amount by the Canal last year 15,296 tons. From the Schuylkill region the tonnage for the week ending on Thursday amounts to 89,315 tons, of which the Road brought down 53,837 tons, and the Canal 35,436 tons, the aggregate being rather less than the shipments from the region for the corresponding week last year. The coal tonnage by the Road for the year is 1,052,168 tons, against 1,199,178 tons to corresponding time last year—being a loss of 147,006 tons. The Canal has brought down for the year 810,886 tons, against 809,496 tons to corresponding time last year, being a gain of 898 tons. A stern chase is proverbially a long one, but the Canal has now overcome its last year's business, with the prospect of considerably increasing on it at the end of the season. The Road is about three weeks' work behind its last year's tonnage, and it depends almost wholly on good weather late in the Fall whether the present season's business in coal will equal that of the last.

Cincinnati Stock Market.

From Hewson's Circular.

The buoyancy in our Stock market, noticed in our last, still continues, with a further decided advance in several of the stocks on our list. Columbus and Xenia shares have sold at 80, an advance of 1 ⅌ cent. Indianapolis and Cincinnati shares have sold as high as 62, and may now be quoted at that figure; an advance of 4 ⅌ cent. in ten days. Little Miami shares have sold at 88½ to 89. Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton shares have also materially advanced, with sales, as we close, at 70, which is an improvement of 4 ⅌ cent. on our sales of last week. Covington and Lexington shares have sold at 16; and Ohio and Mississippi at 5⅝ to 6.

In Bonds there have been sales of $25,000 Little Miami 6 ⅌ cent., at 80 and interest; and Ohio and Mississippi 2d mortgage 7 ⅌ cent., at 50 and interest.

Money market works easier. The Fall trade having brought in a more liberal supply of currency, the discount houses have been enabled to take all first-class names at fair rates.

Eastern Exchange is unexpectedly higher, and is now firm, at ½@¾ premium. Time bills on the Eastern cities are not abundant, and generally go at interest and ¼ ⅌ cent exchange. Southern bills are merely nominal, very few offering. This is caused by the total suspension of navigation, growing out of the unprecedentedly low stage in the Ohio River.

The earnings of the Mad River and Lake Erie Railroad Company for the month of August, 1856, were:

From Passengers	$17,955 80
Freight	45,202 59
Mail and Express	2,287 27
Total	$63,444 66
August, 1855	50,488 01
Increase, 18 ⅌ cent.	$9,156 65
